Ceremonies at Legion

Veterans' services set

This coming Saturday, November 11, is Remembrance Day. For many people this is just another day on the calendar, but for most of us, it's a time to stop from this work-a-day world and remember all those men who fought and laid their lives on the line in two Great Wars so that we may have the opportunity to live in a democracy of peace and understanding and freedom in one of the finest countries under the sun.

For most of the children, Remembrance Day is just another holiday and they don't understand what it's all about. It is our duty as parents to sit down with our children and try and make them aware what this day should mean to them and explain that they would not be living in our democratic system of freedom today if it hadn't been for the men who left their home and families to defend this country of ours.

Remembrance Day should be a special day for all of us and this coming Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Royal Canadian Legion Auditorium, a service of remembrance will be held to pay tribute to those brave men who laid down their lives in two great wars.

Is it asking too much of the citizens of this area to pause on Saturday morning for an hour to participate in this act of remembrance?

Following the service at the Legion a parade led by the Haliburton Legion Pipe Band will make its way to the Cenotaph on Highland Street for the laying of the wreaths and the act of remembrance at 11 a.m. Everyone is invited to take part in these services.

Let's remember on this day the last three lines to John McCrae's famous poem, "In Flanders Fields".

If ye break faith with us who die,
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

Wintario funding under review

Work on new park delayed until 1979

Work on the proposed 8.9-acre park on the shore of Head Lake in Haliburton Village will not likely begin until next spring, according to Dysart et al township reeve Murray Fearrey.

Because of a change in regulations regarding Wintario funding, the township was forced to re-apply for financial support to the Ministry of Culture and Recreation.

Township council are awaiting word from Wintario on their re-application, said reeve Fearrey.

Wintario funding is available for up to 50 per cent of the value of the park, which is estimated to cost $350,000.

Council is continuing to investigate other avenues of funding with the Ministry of Natural Resources under its approved park program and with the federal Department of Indian and Northern Affairs.

Reeve Fearrey had hoped, to begin excavation work this fall on the park, but the change in Wintario regulations forced the delay.

The park will consist of two portions. A 3.9-acre section, located north of the Drag River, and a south portion of five acres. It will be located on land behind the Canadian National Railway track.

Included in the plan, prepared by architect-engineers, Campbells, Greer and Gallo-way of Peterborough at a cost of $8,000, is the expansion of the tennis courts at Rotary Park to three surfaces from two, a bridge will join Rotary Park with the property on the main street side of the Drag River and a boardwalk will connect the park with the existing government dock.

Featured also will be a creative play area for children, a wading pool with a natural rock and water setting and a bandshell. The amphitheatre and bandshell will face each other and will be able to accommodate 500 to 1,000 persons.

Plans for the park were approved last July by township council.

Haliburton County school students received instruction in emergency school bus evacuation during the past months, and some, like this spry young lad, seemed to enjoy the exercise. Constable Wim Magee (right) from Minden OPP instructed and informed the students on the proper methods of school bus evacuation.

Legion holds dinner to celebrate expansion

Official opening set

The official opening of the expansion of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 at Haliburton Village is scheduled for this Saturday.

A plaque, containing a brief history of the Legion branch, will be erected at the hall.

The opening will commence with a dinner. It is being held in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the branch and Remembrance Day.

Work on the expansion and renovation, which began last April, was completed in October and included a completely new extension to the rear of the present facility.

Covering two floors, the 6,000-square-foot extension features a new modern kitchen, designed and planned for more efficient food service operations, new washrooms, storage space and an addition on the present auditorium. The auditorium features a portable stage.

In the lower floor, the space will be utilized for a larger office and meeting room, more storage space, washrooms and larger floor area.

New furnishings and equipment will be featured in both the present building and the new extension.

The new auditorium will accommodate 350 persons. A facelift, which included insulating existing walls and new wall finishes, will improve sound proofing and acoustics by more than 50 per cent.

New heating controls, air-conditioning and smoke removal units have been installed along with a fire alarm system and emergency battery-operated lighting system.

The expansion was initiated because the present structure was too small to accommodate the larger use of the auditorium as a community hall.

Under the direction and advice of Redwood, Gordon, Lassing, Nitsch, Trenton Architects and Engineers, plans were finalized. The contract was awarded to J. C. Coad Construction Company Limited of Trenton with a separate contract for equipping the kitchen handled by Stainless Steel Products Limited of Brantford. Total cost of the project was estimated at $300,000.

Financial assistance was obtained from the Ministry of Culture and Recreation and Wintario to augment the fundraising by members of the Legion, the Ladies Auxiliary and public support.

The present facility was constructed in 1963 after the previous structure was destroyed by fire.

Branch 129 was re-organized in 1944 and located its headquarters in a brick house across from the Texaco depot. The building was gutted by fire in January, 1952.

Property was purchased where the present facility is located and a new building was erected in 1952. The mortgage on the building was paid off eight years later.

But misfortune struck again. In the early hours of April 6, 1963, fire destroyed the building. Branch 129 also lost its original charter of August 21, 1928, in the blaze.

More than $2,000 worth of band equipment and a large collection of unreplaceable mementos and souvenirs were also lost in the fire.

The Legion set up quarters in the curling rink for several months before moving into the abandoned Pentecostal Church, which stood next to the Branch 129, where the Sherman tank is now located.

The organization moved into its new building in June, 1964. The mortgage on the structure was paid off in November 1970.

At the dedication and official opening, Immediate Past Dominion President Doug McDonald will be the guest speaker.

Residents urged to seek rental housing information

Residents of Dysart et al township interested in rent geared to income housing should arrange to visit representatives of the Ministry of Housing, who will be at the municipal building in Haliburton village this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The municipality is seeking individuals who would qualify for this type of housing.

"It is extremely important that anyone interested make this special effort," explained clerk-administrator Wayne Wood. "Support for the original survey must be forthcoming if geared to income housing is to become a reality."

A survey was taken in 1976 when the township sent a notice to every resident who was renting accommodation at that time, he said.

The results of the survey produced 53 applications for the housing. The information was forwarded to the ministry, which decided the demand warranted construction of a 23-unit housing project in the township.

But of the original 53

applications, only two are still qualified for the rent geared to income housing.

The units contain two or four bedrooms and include heat, hot water, stove and refrigerator.

HHSS students will appear on Reach for the Top

Four students from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, Paul Madden, Graham Neville, Dave Shapiera and Henny VanLieshout, will compete against Gravenhurst Secondary School students on the program 'Reach for the Top', which will be aired this Saturday on CKVR television at 6 p.m.

It is the first time the secondary school representatives have managed to go beyond the second game.

The four-member team is being coached by teachers, Dave Mowat and Bill Valentine.

Document predicts slow growth

Council approves development plan

The development strategy for Haliburton County was approved last Thursday by members of county council at a special meeting.

It took members of council less than 60 minutes to deal with the three large volumes of information, which were finally revealed after months of work. Contained in the information are the development strategy, municipal statements of planning policy and the background planning study.

"We finally reached the final hour," commented planning committee chairman Sinc Nesbitt, reeve of Stanhope township.

Planners Totten, Sims and Hubicki Associates Limited of Toronto compiled the documents and senior planner John McDermott gave a summary of the information to members of council in a 30-minute presentation.

Growth in the county will be slow over the next 10 to 15 years with a projected population increase of 1,000 to 1,300 persons predicted.

The development strategy contains three main objectives. The first aim is the development of policies for the conservation and management of natural resources in the county. The second objective is to shift the emphasis away from the traditional consent granting approach to lot creation towards lots in registered plans of subdivision. The third aim is the development of policies and guidelines for new residential, recreational, commercial and industrial land uses.

In the past, local planning has been the responsibility of municipal councils and the rate of turnover for subdivision applications has been more than 35 per cent. Under the development strategy, the responsibility for planning will still rest with the municipal councils, but will be contained in a county-wide strategy.

Only one member of county council voted against the development strategy.

Snowdon deputy reeve Don Smedmor accused the planning committee of destroying development in Snowdon township with the development strategy.

Planning chairman Nesbitt said the committee and the planners carefully considered the development proposals for the township before reaching any decisions.

The deputy reeve was objecting to development strategy not allowing a mobile home development in a particular area of the township.

Nesbitt explained the area could not handle the type of proposed development unless sewer and water were installed. He said Snowdon has four separate locations designated for growth.

Dysart et al township reeve Murray Fearrey objected to more takeover of private land. He said a statement in the development strategy indicated creating a satellite park, beside Algonquin Park, to give access to the park from Haliburton County.

"We should encourage private enterprise to establish a park," he stated, "I don't think we need more crown land in Haliburton County."

McDermott said the statement would be changed to encourage private enterprise to establish a park.

The strategy is intended to apply over a 15-year period with provision for updating every five years. The planners examined various townships across the study area, which includes all Haliburton County municipalities, except Dysart et al, which already has an official plan, and have assessed the town-sites' abilities to sustain growth.

At the heart of the strategy as far as residential development is concerned is the idea that new subdivision should be placed near existing townships, where goods and services are readily available.

The strategy identifies four townships as major growth hamlets, Dorset, Carnarvon, Wilberforce and Moore Falls are thought to be capable of sustaining subdivision development on a limited scale.

Work on the planning strategy began last January and is expected to cost an estimated $75,000. The Ministry of Housing will pay 75 per cent of the cost and the municipalities 25 per cent.

The strategy envisions the development of rural estate subdivision with water access through a public park instead of the traditional lakeshore strip development.

The document calls for protection of environmentally sensitive areas, such as tall pines in Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone townships, deer and moose yards and other environmentally sensitive areas such as bogs, swamps, marshes and trout spawning areas.

The strategy wants to guard against the conversion of seasonal dwelling houses to permanent dwellings, occupied on a year-round basis and adjacent to the shoreline of the lakes and rivers of the area which will ultimately result in the "degradation" of the environment.

The next step in the planning process for Haliburton County is to commission a study of the county's lakes to assess the impact of existing development and future development proposals on the various bodies of water within the county.

A final step in county planning is to have the Dysart et al official plan incorporated into the county planning document.

The development strategy will now be forwarded to the Ministry of Housing for approval.

Glebe Park will be new location

Old museum to be moved

The old Haliburton Pioneer Museum is expected to be moved from its present location to the site of the new museum structure at Glebe Park in the near future, according to building committee chairman Gerry Dawson.

The committee, he said, is awaiting input from officials of the Museum's branch of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, who are expected to meet with committee members later this month.

Construction on the new structure was completed in October. Work on the two-storey, 2,400-square-foot building began last May. The work was done by Mercon Construction of Bracebridge, who were awarded the contract earlier this year. Plans to build a new museum structure were revealed last January.

Public input will be sought by the committee in the future regarding the organization of the museum.

Total cost of the project will cover 50 per cent to be about $200,000. Wintario grants will cover 50 per cent of the total cost and the remaining half will be split evenly between the municipality and the private sector.

Haliburton County council has given a $3,000 grant towards the cost, while the Rotary and Kinsmen Clubs have pledged $25,000 and $5,000 respectively.

Designed by architect Napier Simpson, the new structure cost a total of $130,000. The remaining $70,000 will be spent on outfitting the structure and site.

The official opening for the new museum is expected to be conducted next June.

The Haliburton Northern Ways Huskies got their season underway last Friday when they played Bewdley at the Dysart arena in Haliburton. The game was a rough one, but the Huskies managed to skate off the ice, winners. For more details, see page 6.

Haliburton area resident suffers major injury in mishap last Friday

A 17-year-old Haliburton area woman was taken to Haliburton hospital with major injury last Friday after she was thrown out of the vehicle she was operating following a single car accident on Mountain Street in Haliburton Village at 12:50 p.m.

Sandra LaPorte of RR 2, Haliburton, was driving south on the street. She swerved when meeting a vehicle on the hill, lost control and rolled over, police said.

Damage to the 1974 model car was estimated at $3,000. Provincial police at the Minden detachment charged LaPorte with failure to wear a seatbelt.

The mishap was investigated by provincial constable Bob Pearson.

Two Minden residents suffered minor injuries and were taken to Minden hospital following a single vehicle mishap last Friday at 9:30 p.m. on County road 2 in Lutterworth township.

Daniel McKelvey, 21, was driving south when he lost control on a curve, entered the east ditch and rolled over. A passenger in the vehicle, Christopher Miles, 21, was also taken to hospital.

Rex Anderson, 17, of Minden, who was also a passenger in the vehicle, was not injured.

The mishap was investigated by provincial constable Barry Connelly.

Damage was estimated at $3,000 in a single car crash last Thursday at 8:10 a.m. on Highway 519 near Haliburton Village.

A southbound vehicle, driven by Rhea Amorse, 33, of Haliburton, went out of control on an icy area of the highway, entered the east ditch, struck a rock face and rolled over. The accident was investigated by provincial constable Al Barnes.

A 54-year-old Minden resident, Eldon R. Deacon, escaped injury when he destroyed his 1973 model car last Saturday at 2:15 p.m. on Highway 35 near Carnarvon.

Deacon was northbound when he noticed smoke from the rear engine area. Upon pulling over onto the east shoulder, the vehicle burst into flames.

Damage to the car was estimated at $2,000. The mishap was investigated by provincial constable Jim Solway.

Damage was estimated at $1,500 in a single car accident last Thursday at 7:10 a.m. on Highway 121 near Haliburton Village.

The driver of this car received no injuries but his car wasn't so lucky. Rhea Amorse of Haliburton was driving his car along Highway 519 last Thursday when he hit an icy surface and entered the ditch. The car struck a rock face and rolled over. Damage to the vehicle is estimated at $3,000.

Resolution encourages participation by municipalities

MLA wants jobs created

The Ontario Legislature last Thursday passed a resolution introduced by John Turner, Progressive Conservative MLA for Peterborough requesting that the Ontario Government encourage every municipality to develop job creation and industrial goals as part of the planning process directed towards amending an official plan for the municipality and to include these goals in the appendix of the official plan of the municipality.

MTC started road information service Monday

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications has announced that its Winter Road Reporting Service for the public went into operation on November 6.

The Road Information Centre at Toronto and the Ministry's 18 district offices throughout the province have up-to-date information on the condition of all provincial and secondary highways 24 hours a day, seven days a week during the winter months.

Information on winter road conditions may be obtained around the clock by telephoning the following MTC offices in Ontario.

OPP unable to locate owner of stolen boat

If you are missing a 12-foot fiberglass row boat, please contact provincial constable Al Bibby at the Minden detachment.

Following an investigation into a break-in at Red Pine Lake two weeks ago, police apprehended the persons involved and recovered a boat, which they had in their possession.

To date, police have been unable to locate the owner of the boat, which is believed to have been stolen from the dam between Kennis and Red Pine Lakes.

Harcourt, was driving west on the highway when he lost control on an icy area and entered the north ditch.

Provincial constable Al Barnes investigated the mishap.

Turner stated that the purpose of his resolution was to encourage the municipalities to plan for job creation and to set goals for their industrial and commercial growth. Turner stated that experiences in his own riding underlines the need for such a resolution. He also said that the increased competition for industry to provide jobs and equalize the assessment base in municipalities was an important factor.

"My primary concern was to bring home the need for planning at the municipal level if our municipalities are to compete effectively with other regions for industry. In many cases, there is a lack of statistics and information at the local level. What this resolution says is that there must be greater emphasis on industrial planning at the local level and that the Ontario Government should encourage the municipalities to be active in this area," said Turner.

"In my own constituency these concerns were recognized by the formation of a group of concerned citizens, and elected people, whose goal was to examine potential areas within the local economy where municipal initiatives could be taken to stimulate development. An important fact became apparent in the Peterborough planning situation, and it was simply that the general promotion efforts produced by a body, such as the citizens committee, could be effectively integrated with, and supported by the efforts of a city's existing municipal planning and development staff," said Turner.

"I believe that by improving our general business environment, by making business feel wanted and welcome as opposed to accepting them somewhat grudgingly, by making economic growth and industrial growth a primary objective and only by making assistance to industrial development available at the local level can we insure that adequate growth takes place. And growth which is necessary to meet employment and real income," added Turner.

The Ontario Development Corporation recently has increased its support of innovative projects through the provision of venture capital in small business support. The smaller businesses, particularly secondary manufacturing firms, are often bound up with local municipal interests, and therefore it would seem to me in the best interests of municipalities to begin carefully considering how they can function in co-operation with the province in order to reduce bureaucratic procedures and provide the assistance that is often necessary to generate new growth. In other words, if the proper studies are undertaken and undertaken aggressively, local planners may greatly assist new business ventures in a consultative capacity in addition to assisting by using approval, processing services, advocacy, etc.," added Turner.

"There are a number of methods which may open new paths to facilitate the location of industry and hence attract new development. For example, the pooled information from local businessmen in a particular municipality might indicate that the area has a strong supply of a particularly skilled labour force. And if it were found that this component of the labour force were traditionally stable, it might be viewed and promoted by planners as a possible incentive to attract middle-order service industries, such as consumer, finance, insurance companies and that type of industry," stated Turner.

Minister urges energy conservation effort

Energy Minister James Auld today urged municipalities in Ontario to undertake energy conservation programs to save both energy and tax dollars.

He told the Provincial-Municipal Liaison Committee (PMLC) most Ontario municipalities are spending an estimated 8 to 12 per cent of their property tax revenue on energy. Last year, municipalities with a population of 70,000 spent roughly $1 million of taxpayers' money, or about 10 per cent of their property taxes, on energy bills.

"Municipal energy consumption at today's high levels is neither desirable nor is it necessary; there are better and cheaper ways," Mr. Auld said.

The Energy Minister said opportunities exist for municipalities to save both energy and money through improvements in building operation and construction, street lighting, vehicle purchase and operation, refuse and sewage treatment and transportation and community planning.

He said energy conservation efforts in Ontario Government operated buildings and Government funded institutions have achieved significant results. In a McMaster University building complex, for example, savings of $2.265 million have been realized in the last four years.

He said there is "a general feeling that municipalities would benefit from a pooling of knowledge and experience, and a co-ordination of effort."

"It is my hope that this province can again show initiative and imagination in a new focus for energy conservation as we have done so many times in the past."

He suggested the formation of a provincial-municipal energy conservation steering committee to channel information and advice from the Ministry of Energy and other government ministries to municipalities.

The committee also could give municipalities a "forum where matters affecting energy conservation could be collectively brought to our attention," he said.

PMLC members were shown an audio-visual presentation outlining the successful efforts of the Regional Municipality of Durham in its energy conservation program launched in January. Durham's target is to reduce energy consumption by 10 per cent in one year. The presentation also identified major opportunities for energy savings in any municipal operation.

The Ministry of Energy is prepared to give municipalities its wholehearted support to help them get started on local conservation programs, Mr. Auld said.

The PMLC is a forum for an exchange of ideas between provincial and municipal elected officials.

Police investigate vehicle accidents

Nine motor vehicle collisions and 67 general occurrences were investigated by the Minden detachment of the provincial police during the activity period of October 30 to November 5.

Police also reported three break-ins, charged two persons with impaired driving, laid liquor violation charges against two persons, charged a person with a Narcotic Act violation, delivered a compassionate message and found a business premise insecure.

John W. Zylstra, President of Algonquin Graphics Limited is pleased to announce that David Robb has been appointed to the position of Assistant Publisher for the Haliburton County Echo and Minden Recorder.

Mr. Robb joins The Echo as Assistant Publisher following his positions as Advertising Manager of the Seaford, Huron Expositor and Brussels Post, and Stills Photographer for CFTO T.V. He is a graduate of Photography at Sheridan College.

Occupation

incorrect

In last week's Echo, it was stated in the candidates supplement that Roger Woods, who is running for Stanhope councillor, was a computer programmer. Mr. Woods is, in fact, a welder and now a full-time resident of Stanhope township.

In the same section, it was also stated that Harry Davis is an incumbent councillor. In fact, Mr. Davis served on council for one term prior to this past council term.

The Echo also stated in a story in last week's issue that "a question was posed to Stanhope candidates Elgin Stouffer and Roger Woods concerning their intent to stay with the fire department." The line should have read "a question was posed to candidates Elvin Johnson and Roger Woods..."

The Echo regrets any confusion or inconvenience the errors may have caused.

Hydro rates to increase by 7 per cent

Rates charged to customers served by Ontario Hydro's rural retail system will increase an average of seven per cent in 1979.

Ontario Hydro said October 26 that the increase is necessary to recover the higher wholesale cost of power as well as slight increases in retail distribution costs. Increases in wholesale power costs for municipal utilities and direct industrial customers were announced last month.

It was also announced that as in 1978, bills based on metered energy will continue to be reduced by an anti-inflation discount during 1979. It now seems certain that the high sales of energy to the U.S. and better than predicted performance by the nuclear plants will result in excess 1978 earnings as measured by the AIB guidelines. The discount as adjusted from time to time will ensure that the rural retail system's share of this excess is returned to its customers during 1979.

The effect of the increase on individual customers will vary depending on their consumption and classification. As an example, a typical rural residential customer's monthly bill of $38.25 will increase by approximately $3.

Details of the new rates will be mailed to all rural retail customers.

Police charge two juveniles with theft

Two juveniles from Brown-dale in the Carnarvon area, a 15-year-old and a 14-year-old were charged with theft over $200 following investigation of a report of a stolen vehicle.

Provincial police at the Minden detachment received information that a 1972 model stationwagon, owned by Catherine Hunter of RR 1, Haliburton, was stolen.

The vehicle was observed travelling west on Haliburton County road 1. The vehicle later collided with provincial police cruiser from the Bracebridge detachment and struck a hydro pole. The car was totally destroyed.

The pair had been reported missing from Brown-dale about 3:30 p.m. Both were located by provincial constable Boyd Jarvis and returned to Brown-dale authorities.

The juveniles were charged under the Juvenile Delinquents Act of the Criminal Code.

Chopper pays emergency call

The Ministry of Health is experimenting with an air-ambulance service, which is available to transport emergency victims to hospitals in Toronto.

The helicopter is rented by the ministry from Toronto Helicopters and is valued at $1.2-million.

The ministry has extended the experimentation program until March. The helicopter landed in the parking lot of the Red Cross Hospital last week to transport a heart attack victim to hospital in Toronto.

Pilot Bob Blakely and co-pilot Steve Smith alternate flying the aircraft, which has a para-medic on board.

Fuel drums are available at each landing location to refuel the helicopter, which normally lands on the playing field of Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School, which is a designated heliport.

The aircraft can make a round trip from Toronto within 90 minutes.

Echo Editorials

Wrong

Since this newspaper wrongly based an editorial in the October 25 issue on a letter from James Burton, president of the Minden branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, more information has come to light about the reasons for the administration of medical care of the patients being placed in the hands of a Haliburton Village physician.

The board of directors of the Minden branch of the society raised several points in its argument for return of care of the patients to the Minden doctors in the letter. "At present, there is a very long delay before a patient from the Hyland Crest Home can see the doctor in an emergency," stated Burton in his letter to warden Keith Tallman. "In winter, the journey to Haliburton through snow and ice will be more difficult."

Although a short time of travel is required, no patients have suffered nor have any long delays been experienced because the care of the home has been under the responsibility of a Haliburton physician.

Instability in the medical community at Minden a few years ago resulted in the care of the Hyland Crest patients being given to a Haliburton doctor by the management committee of Haliburton County council.

"The decision of the committee of management of the Hyland Crest Home not to accept the Minden doctors is quite incomprehensible and is clearly not in the patients' best interests," said Burton in his letter. "All the patients, except two, have requested that the Minden doctors should be the official doctors for the Hyland Crest Home."

Over the past few years, the patients at the home have responded positively towards the care of the administering physician. Switching the administration of care to the patients now, could seriously disrupt the stability created by the present arrangement and cause difficulties for the residents of the home. The Echo has further learned that any Hyland Crest resident is free to select the physician of his or her choice. Some residents have done this and Minden doctors in fact, are welcomed to practise in the Hyland Crest Home because after all, the welfare of the patients is the most important factor.

The survey taken among the patients is questionable since many of the patients are not really able to fully understand the dealings in their environment.

"The committee of management do not seem to care at all for the patients' medical welfare or their wishes," said the society president in his letter.

The decision by the management committee was made for the welfare of the patients.

The medical community is beginning to stabilize in Minden, but has not yet reached the point of complete stability. The arrangement between the committee of management and the Haliburton doctor is subject to review in February.

Whether a Haliburton Village or Minden doctor is the Medical Administrator is immaterial. The welfare of the patients at Hyland Crest should be the most important factor considered before changes are made at the home.

This situation could do irreparable damage to the unity of Haliburton County, which at this time is the most important factor in the County's future.

Housing

Unless interested residents reveal themselves to representatives of the Ministry of Housing this Saturday, Dysart et al township will be in danger of losing an opportunity to secure housing with rent geared to income.

A survey two years ago revealed 53 individuals were interested in this type of housing, but now only two are still qualified for it.

This type of accommodation can lessen the burden on many residents with low incomes, who face high rent costs.

"It is extremely important that anyone interested make this special effort," explained clerk-administrator Wayne Wood. "Support for the original survey must be forthcoming if geared to income housing is to become a reality."

The ministry has studied the results of the survey taken in 1976 and decided the demand warranted construction of a 23-unit housing project in the township.

Township officials have been working diligently to obtain the necessary accommodation and residents should take full advantage of their efforts to secure the housing for Dysart.

But unless interested individuals take advantage of the opportunity now, the project will not be able to proceed.

Individuals should make themselves known to the ministry representatives this Saturday by arranging to learn whether they qualify or not for the rent geared to income housing.

Unless those interested make the effort, the opportunity for securing such accommodation will remain endangered.

Ready for winter

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I write this letter to you with sadness and regret. I was hired by our Royal Canadian Legion to play my violin Saturday evenings to help bring up the Saturday evening attendance. This didn't work out and last night I was dismissed.

I thought I had many friends who liked to hear me play but the attendance kept dropping each week on Saturdays so now I realize that I must be driving them away so have decided to leave my violin in the case as long as I am in Haliburton. I like music and intend to get back to it as soon as I can get straightened away. There is nothing here so I will have to make another move and there must be some place where I will be welcomed. I only moved back to Haliburton to see my children but I only see them for a few minutes once in a while.

I have great respect for the Legion. To me it is a monument to those who fought and died so that we would have a free country to live in. I take my hat off to those men and when the national anthem is played I stand at attention. That is also respect to those men and anyone who disagrees should never be allowed to enter the building. I made a man, if you could call him a man, stand up and got raked over the coals for it by the management. That and the fact that there was no good advertising as my name was never mentioned could be part of the reason for my dismissal.

I have never missed a parade on Nov. 11 since the last war. I will not miss it this year but it will be in some other place.

Yours truly,
Harold Brodhagen, Haliburton, Ontario.

The municipal elections will soon be history for another two years in only a few days. Elections in the newspaper business, mean intense planning, late nights and a large amount of good fortune.

Coverage of municipal elections varies greatly from federal and provincial affairs because of the large number of candidates usually running. This municipal election will be my fifth experience. I can remember the first time I was called upon to cover the municipal races. The task appeared overwhelming on the surface.

A reporter must rely heavy on the telephone to gather most of the information of the results from the various municipalities. I have found from past experience, no matter how well the coverage is planned, something always goes amiss.

I have covered municipal elections in eastern Ontario all through my journalism career and found the experience to be very different each time.

Gathering the results can produce some very humorous situations. I remember the time when my telephone acted up in the middle of the night as I was compiling the results. I was fortunate enough to gain access to another phone quickly and was able to complete my task.

A fellow reporter and I once collaborated on obtaining election information. Unfortunately, the idea was sound in theory, but it turned out neither of us could reach each other by telephone to exchange information.

Over the years, I have found the clerk-treasurers of municipalities to be extremely helpful in gathering results. During the last municipal election in 1976, a snow storm struck Brockville and I was unable to use my car or any other means of transportation - except to walk through knee-high snow drifts.

The election centre for Brockville was at a local auditorium. I managed to trek down and gather the results of the race in the city before heading back to my office to gather the results from areas in the surrounding municipalities.

I remember waking several clerks from a sound sleep seeking information, yet not one complained. When I think about it now they certainly had every right to be upset. Yet, they chose to co-operate and provide the required information. It was certainly the kind of co-operation a reporter is fortunate to receive.

Municipal elections I think should be the most important process the voter can participate in. The elections allow the voters to express their satisfaction or unhappiness with the present administration.

Taxpayers complain too often about the running of governments, whether they be federal, provincial or municipal, yet, rarely realize the importance of the grass roots level of government.

Voter turnout for federal, provincial and municipal elections has operated on a sliding scale.

Federal elections attract the most voters, provincial are second and trailing in third is municipal.

Yet, I think the most important, in terms of participation, are the municipal elections.

In Haliburton County, more than 80 candidates are offering themselves for public office. It is important every eligible voter in the county exercise his or her franchise November 13.

If there is one main issue coming up in every municipality in the County of Haliburton, that issue is industry. This is one avenue in my opinion that we have not put enough effort into. Councils all talk about it and claim they are doing everything in their power to bring industry in. I often wonder if they are trying hard enough. It has been said many times before and we are saying it again that we are in no position in Haliburton County to turn down any project that will provide more jobs for people all year round. Let's face the fact that if we are to survive, we must have more money injected into the economy. In an effort to secure industry we must have DREE funding and this is something that the government doesn't seem to want to move on. I would like to think that as a county council and chamber of commerce, that the day will come when they will all work together in harmony for one common cause. We must broaden our thinking and accept the fact that if we expect to accomplish this goal that we have to get away from this constant bickering of where an industry or an institution locates. No matter where it goes we are all going to benefit.

In a recent letter sent into the City Magazine by J. C. Lusted, from orillia in the City Magazine section of the Sunday Star he commented on the section titled, The City Skier, which he stated was a wasted effort. We quote from his letter: "The map showing the various areas was very poor. Horseshoe Valley north of the 400! What happened to indicating ski areas such as Blue Mountain, Mount St. Louis, Medonte, Snow Valley, Hidden Valley and Talisman? These have much more to offer than some of the areas you have indicated. Why not put them on the map?" If I was a betting man I would venture to say that Sir Sam's Inn Ski Resort at Eagle Lake, which is one of the finest in Ontario, was also left off this map.

The move by the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International to the new Legion Auditorium in Haliburton seems to be an excellent one that is really going to pay off. At their last monthly dinner meeting at the Legion Hall, more than 150 people were in attendance and we understand that they are expecting a turnout of more than 200 to their November meeting. Holding these monthly get-togethers in the village seems to be the answer. The Legion Hall is centrally located and very handy for those who do not drive.

This coming Saturday, November 11th is Remembrance Day. Make it a point now to attend the service and help pay tribute to those brave men who laid down their lives making it possible for us to live in peace and comfort in the finest land under the sun. For many of our young people, they don't know what Remembrance Day is all about. As parents and as teachers, it is our responsibility to explain it to them.

Possibly we have come to the point that Hallowe'en night is really for the kids. This year for a change, the weather was just ideal for the children to go around to the various houses to trick or treat. Usually it's either snowing or raining on Hallowe'en night. In past years Hallowe'en was a night for young hoodlums to get out and spread vandalism around the county. This year from all reports it was different with very little damage being done. This is the way it should be.

You have all heard the song "Are you Lonesome Tonight." Well, here in Haliburton County there are a large number of people who are lonely, others burdened with problems, while others just need someone to talk over their troubles with. In this day and age in this ever fast moving world of ours, most of us, it would appear, hardly have time to stop and say hello or have a friendly chat. What a great feeling we would all have if we would just take the time to go out and visit and talk to these people and try to make their daily lives just a little better and brighter. Some people are in a rut and they should be brought out of it. If you have the opportunity to help someone out, you will be surprised just how good it will make you feel. Just give it a try. Most of us today are searching for an answer to our problems and it all boils down to the fact that most people are lacking in faith.

All merchants and their staff should keep November 15th open for the upcoming Crime Prevention Seminar which is to be held at PineStone Inn. Because of such a large agenda for this seminar, the programme must get underway at 6:30 p.m. in order to finish at a reasonable hour.

This is a very important seminar and one that vitally concerns every merchant in this county. The staff working at various business establishments should also make it a point to be there so that all will be on the alert on this subject of Crime Prevention. It seems that the last time this seminar was held those that should have attended were conspicuous by their absence.

At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton, Carole Finn and Barb Bolin gave a very interesting talk on the efforts of the Guild of Fine Arts to restore the CNR station. The restoration will be part of the Parks Development Programme in the village of Haliburton. When restored, the building will offer meeting, exhibition and washroom facilities as well as arts and crafts programmes. An interesting history of the station house and the railway in Haliburton was also given. Good luck to the Guild in this important endeavour.

At a dinner party a shy young man had been trying to think of something nice to say to his hostess. At last he saw his chance when she turned to him and remarked, "What a small appetite you have tonight, Mr. Jones." "To sit next to you," he replied gallantly, "would cause any man to lose his appetite."

Guild Station Century Celebrations

The weekend of November 24 marks the 100th anniversary of the opening of the Victoria Railroad in Haliburton. The rails are now rusting from disuse and the future of the railroad, to say the least, is questionable.

There is however some cause for celebration on this particular weekend since the 100-year-old railroad station has now been acquired by the municipality for the use of the Guild of Fine Arts as a visual arts centre. The gallery will be the only one of its kind north of Metro, that emphasises crafts. The committee is still open to suggestions but in the meantime have dubbed the new centre "The Guild Station Gallery".

To celebrate the arrival of the railroad 100 years ago a dance with a midnight buffet was held at the town hall at a cost of $1.50 a person. The party apparently extended to a three-day celebration. Prices have gone up since 1878, but after all our forefathers did not have a beautiful place like the Haliburton Legion Hall in which to celebrate nor a band of the quality of "Phase 3" to dance to. The "Century Celebrations dance and midnight buffet" on Friday, November 24 will kick off the guild's fund raising campaign for the gallery. Cost is only $10 a person.

The guild's pre-Christmas exhibition and sale is also scheduled for the same weekend and will be held this year on the premises of the former Ol' Barn Tavern. This event runs from Friday, November 24 through until Tuesday, November 28.

The Guild has also arranged for a Century Railroad Exhibit at the new museum at Glebe Park. This will feature a model railroad display along with many railroad artifacts and memorabilia and will run from Friday, November 24 to Sunday, November 26.

Senior citizens of Haliburton have pitched in to help raise funds for the gallery and are running a tea and bazaar on Saturday, November 25 at the arena auditorium.

The Municipality of Dysart and the members of the Guild are to be congratulated for their considerable efforts in putting this program together so quickly. They deserve your support.

Outreach Project Signs New Contract

The Canada Manpower Outreach Centre, which serves the County from Haliburton, has received an approved contract extending to March 31, 1979. We understand this contract was not made for a full year in order to bring it's renewal date into line with the normal end of government fiscal years. The returned contract was accompanied by a letter from Don Wells, manager of the Employment and Immigration Office in Peterborough. Mr. Wells notes in his letter that "This Outreach Project certainly is meeting or exceeding the objectives set and congratulations to yourself and the Chamber as sponsors, as well as the staff of the project." The credit is due mainly to the staff and those in the community who have co-operated so fully with them.

Seminar For The Hospitality Industry

The adult education division of Sir Sandford Fleming College is presenting a comprehensive seminar on the basics of advertising direct to resort owners which includes the following topics:

How to make your advertising dollars purchase more publicity.

Co-operative advertising - it works for everyone. Brochures - their value to the resort owner and how to plan one.

Your best advertising costs nothing.

The seminar will be presented by Edwin Matthews, who is well known in Canada as an advertising and sales promotion executive for over 30 years. Edwin owns and operates a very successful advertising agency in Toronto called Promanad Promotion and Advertising Ltd. He is now semi-retired and his two sons now run the agency while he keeps his hand in as an account executive for such companies as Outboard Marine Corporation and Quaker Oats. His experience in commercial art, copywriting and public relations will make his three-day seminar an exciting and profitable experience.

The seminar will be held at the PineStone Inn on December 1, 2 and 3 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and a registration fee of $50 covers the course and all necessary materials. We sincerely recommend this seminar to any resort owner in the county and suggest this $50 investment will be returned many times over in the years to come.

Don't Forget To Vote

November 13 is municipal election day and to the old adage "Vote as you like, but vote", we would like to add, be a knowledgeable voter. Take a careful look at the candidates that are running where you are and if you don't know them or anything about them take some time to find out before giving them your support. We generally get the kind of government we deserve - let's deserve a good one.

Pic of the Past

This coming Saturday, November 11 is Remembrance Day. This is the time that we look back and remember all of those men who fought and died in the cause of democracy so that we who are living today can live in a world of peace and freedom. We thought that this would be the appropriate time to run the above photo showing three Haliburton men who signed up in Haliburton in November 1915 to help defend our country in the First World War. From the left, Albert Curry, Andrew Curry and Russell Curry. We would like to mention that Albert Curry is deceased, Andrew Curry is still living in Haliburton and Russell Curry was killed in action on August 9, 1917 at Lens. The photo was taken in 1916 at Bramshott, England. Our thanks to Mrs. Wes Baker of Haliburton for submitting this photo.

Why can't the big brutal world out there leave us little guys alone to get on with the difficult enough business of living; putting on the storm windows, changing into the snow tires, digging out last winter's rubber boots with the hole in?

Not a chance. It's always shoving a ham-fisted hand into the delicate machinery of our daily lives. Today, I received a summons to appear in court in the city to answer a charge of illegal parking, with all the "to wits" and "whereases" and threats that accompany such blackmail.

And that's what it is - blackmail. I haven't been in the city for four months, I don't even own a car in my own name, and I certainly was not hanging around respectable Parliament Street on that occasion or any other, with or without a car.

Oh, but I have a choice. If I don't want to travel to the city at considerable expense to plead innocent, or have lawyer represent me at considerably more expense, I can just plead guilty by mail and send along $7.80.

But dammit, I'm innocent. So what do I do? Lose a day's pay, spend the money to get there and back, just to prove to some trumpety traffic court that I'm as pure as the driven snow? Or take the chicken way out, and pay the rap? That's blackmail, brother.

A month ago, in came a bill from National Revenue, stating that I owed them several hundreds of dollars, plus interest. No explanations, just the bald statement, accompanied by the usual dire warnings of the consequences, if I don't ante up. More blackmail.

I don't mind paying my bills. Well, I mind, but I pay them. But these mindless, inhuman, computerized attempts to make me feel like a criminal merely succeed in making me sick.

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

The government has lifted the controversial land speculation tax, in a move designed to improve Ontario's investment climate and create more jobs. It has also indicated that a program is to be established to help the pulp and paper industry provide jobs while meeting environmental regulations. The Honourable Frank Miller made these announcements in his maiden speech in the Legislature as provincial treasurer. He stated that "Ontario's spending restraints must be coupled with initiatives designed to encourage the private sector to accelerate its own expansion."

You will recall that the land speculation tax was introduced in April, 1974, in an effort to bring some order into the real estate market. Widespread speculation had imposed enormous pressure on land prices. At the outset, the tax was set at 50 per cent of profit made on the purchase and sale of land which had not been substantially improved. However, it was subsequently dropped to 20 per cent. The province had expected to earn some $7-million from the tax in 1978-79. The Liberals supported the government's decision to abolish the tax. "I think it's served its purpose," said our finance critic David Peterson the member for the London Centre. It's removal is considered to be part of an effort to "set a decent investment climate in the province".

Under questioning from the opposition, the treasurer has disclosed that the Ontario Government's spending deficit has climbed to $1.48-billion this year, almost 41 per cent higher than forecast in the 1978-79 budget. He has also abandoned the promise made by former treasurer Darcy McKeough in 1977 to balance the budget by 1981. That is "an unrealistic date", he said. However, he hopes to set a new target when he learns the impact of the federal budget, to be tabled next month.

Both opposition parties attacked the government over its handling of the economy. Stuart Smith emphasized the fact that the government is now paying $3.3-million a day in interest alone. Liberal finance critic Peterson said the treasurer should not have used federal figures to predict income tax revenues, because these have been incorrect for the past few years.

The government has announced that a former head of the Ontario Human Rights Commission, Dr. Daniel Hill, will review all current information on new religious cults, mind expansion groups and the "deprogrammers" who claim to save people from their clutches. Announcing the appointment, the attorney-general said that "after a thorough review of all available information" Dr. Hill will "recommend whether it would be in the public interest to establish a further public inquiry in this area or to take further action." This is not a public inquiry. Dr. Hill will not hear evidence. He will only gather and assess what is on the written record. Initially the government seemed prepared to go ahead on the basis of a submission to cabinet from the attorney-general's department - a submission based on a police report which suggested a public inquiry to educate people about the dangers of involvement in some of these groups. The intention was to follow the inquiry up with legislation which would block loopholes which allow the unfettered existence of these organizations. However, there was considerable public protest on the subject. Many people expressed their concern about the need to defend the right of freedom of belief and religion.

Liberal Leader Smith maintained that "an inquiry is required" and expressed disappointment that the government had decided upon a further study. Some police forces in Ontario have files on people, particularly young people, who have suffered mental breakdowns after joining such mind-development groups.

Report from Parliament

by William C. Scott MP

The three-day Constitutional conference of first ministers which convened in Ottawa last week, ended in a deadlock, as expected, and in fact it raised more questions than it answered.

For instance, I was surprised and concerned that not one premier raised the question of whether Prime Minister Trudeau might be setting a dangerous precedent by going against tradition in his haste to make such sweeping revisions of the British North America Act.

I am concerned that any future Prime Minister might feel that, if Trudeau could in effect write his own Constitution, then why shouldn't he or she do the same.

We should be reminded that Canada is not a Banana Republic, nor is it an African dictatorship, where each succeeding leader starts out by writing a new Constitution. We are accustomed to doing things in a more studied and calculated manner.

The tradition in Canada over the past 111 years has been to make haste slowly in amending the BNA Act, the structured part of our Constitution. Our experience has been the experience of other stable societies who guard the sanctity of their Constitutions jealously.

Are Canadians less proud, and less protective of their Constitution than, say, the Americans? I sincerely hope not.

Trudeau's all-out attack on the BNA Act is founded on false premises, and that alone should make us suspicious and wary of his motives. He said at one point, for instance, that he was determined to rid Canada of her status as a British colony. Is he serious?

Every Canadian school child is surely aware that Canada's status was changed from colony to Dominion under terms of the BNA Act of 1867.

We progressed through various statutes to the Statute of Westminster of 1931 on the way to full sovereignty, not through the trauma of Civil War or revolution, but in an orderly manner through Parliamentary process.

The Statute of Westminster also laid the groundwork for the dismemberment of the British Empire and the establishment of the British Commonwealth, where "autonomous communities are united by common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

Since 1931, the Canadian Parliament has established the tradition of not amending the BNA Act in any manner affecting the provinces without first getting the approval of all the provincial governments. Trudeau is the first prime minister to break with that tradition.

His argument that he can change the shape of the Senate and Supreme Court, and alter the status of the Monarchy without approval of the provinces, is suspect. His claim that these changes would not affect the provinces ignores a fact that is fundamental to the Canadian system.

Unemployment Insurance is now more responsive to conditions in Ontario.

To make your Unemployment Insurance Program more responsive to the special needs of different areas of Canada, there are now 48 economic regions for UI. (Up to now, there were 16 regions.)

With this change, UI benefits will more accurately reflect your local employment conditions.

It's all part of a plan announced over a year ago.

Each of these new 48 regions will have its own unemployment rate. This will set the length of time a claimant must have worked to become eligible for Unemployment Insurance benefits. And it will govern the length of benefits as well.

There's nothing new about the system itself—it's just being measured more finely in 48 regions, rather than 16.

The length of time a claimant must work to get UI remains the same. It varies from 10 to 14 weeks, depending on the unemployment rate where the claimant lives. And regionally-based benefits have the same maximum.

The change will only affect those whose UI claims start after November 12.

This map and the information with it will show you the new economic boundaries in your area.

Clip the map and save it for reference, if you like.

Note: Further changes to the Unemployment Insurance Program have been proposed by the Government. They will come into effect only when they have been enacted by Parliament.

Along the Trails by Roy Bates

The User Pays Concept
I came home from an afternoon meeting in Toronto last Wednesday just early enough to catch the latter half of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association directors meeting at Donald. I found the fellows busily engaged working out the club's budget for the coming season. When it came to the item "income from day passes", the entry was "nil".

It seems the club has given up for the time being any notion of collecting trail maintenance revenue from non-member users of club trails. You may remember the furor that erupted last year when they proposed a "pay as you ride" contributory program for patrons of motels and lodges along the club's trail system. It's too bad, really, for the user pays concept is truly the only sound method of paying for trail development and maintenance.

When we look at the membership list of the HCSA, we see that it represents about one-fifth of the people, who snowmobile regularly in the region. This means that one-fifth of the snowmobilers are in fact paying for the facilities that are enjoyed freely by the other four-fifths of the snowmobiler population. Hardly a fair situation.

It has been argued that trail maintenance is paid for out of public funds in the form of an assistance grant from the Ministry of Natural Resources. Let us set you straight on that score. Last year, the ministry grant amounted to approximately $70 per mile of trail groomed for the full season. To take the ministry's own figures, the actual cost of grooming runs from $170 to more than $200 per mile per season. Who, then, made up the difference? It surely was not the free riders, the snowmobilers who contributed gleefully to four-fifths of the wear and tear!

I was present at a meeting with Frank S. Miller, then Minister of Natural Resources, when the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs formally presented its proposal for adoption of the user pays concept last spring. The minister was receptive to the idea, stating that his legal advisors had been unable to find anything in the Motorized Snow Vehicles Act which would prohibit it but, he pointed out, the act did not provide any legally constituted authority for the collection of a user fee. Clearly this means that a snowmobile club may, if it so wishes, institute a day pass or temporary membership within its fee structure but there is, as yet, no law on the books to make payment of such a fee mandatory.

If we need such a law, we can have it. But what's wrong with the honour system? Surely, if you were riding in another area on trails as beautiful as we have here, you would be happy to contribute a couple of bucks for their up-keep if only you knew where to pay your money. So let's make it easier for our visitors.

Here is an idea. Everyone, well almost everyone, is hooked on lotteries these days. Why not sell a ticket for two dollars that is good for a day on the trails and the stub goes in for a master draw at the end of the season. The prize could be anything from a hundred dollar bill to a complete outfit of snowmobiling apparel or a weekend for two at one of our plush resorts. It can't miss. Ticket sellers could be our lodge and motel operators, snowmobile dealers and fuel outlets, restaurants, and, of course, the operators of grooming equipment along the trails.

Back to the HCSA budget. I was pleased to see that the club expects to show a small surplus on the year. They need it, for by next season it is likely that one, or both, Bombs will have to be replaced. With a little surplus cash, it will be possible to look at something more sophisticated. How does an SV252 and double-lane grooming strike you? It's coming, but just how soon depends on you and your support of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. Keep your membership in good standing. Renew now.

First game called 'Chippy', second game clean and close

Huskies defeat Bewdley, Madoc in season openers

It was almost as if the Huskies were two different hockey teams when they played their first two season openers this past weekend. One game was something you might see when the Philadelphia Flyers and the Boston Bruins get together, and the other wasn't.

The first game of the season for the Huskies, played Friday night against Bewdley, turned out to be a rough one. It was called a "chippy game" by manager Don Lloyd, and both teams ended up with several penalties before the game ended. Roughing and elbowing penalties came to both teams prior to any scoring, but centre Randy Barras opened the scoring on an unassisted goal at 13:40 for Haliburton in the first period.

Penalties plagued both teams, with Kevin O'Hara receiving a five minute major in the first after he and Bob Palmer of Bewdley dropped their gloves for some 'on the ice dueling'. Palmer also received a major.

Chris Donaldson also ended up with a major and a two-minute minor following a fight.

Rightwinger Steve Davies of Haliburton soon got the Huskies back onto the scoring track again when nearing the end of the period, he scored assisted by Barras and left-winger Joe Roberts.

Haliburton got a penalty right of the bat in the second period when Dave Levely was sent off for elbowing. Bewdley seized the opportunity and scored on the power play at 1:04. From here on in, the penalty box for both sides was kept occupied. On a power play, left defenseman Tim Oram scored from Steve Davies and Joe Roberts at the 6:54 mark.

Less than a minute later, Andy Salvatori scored again on another power play. Chris Hodgson and Jerry Campbell got assists on the play.

Andy Salvatori shone for the Huskies again when at 14:30, Chris Hodgson and Mike Iles assisted him on his second goal of the night.

But more was yet to come in the third.

Play became heated in the final period and Haliburton incurred a total of 13 penalties throughout.

Haliburton struck first in the third at 4:35 when Steve Davies picked one up from Randy Barras. The puck was in Bewdley's net again at 5:09 when Ed Roberts put one away assisted by Tim Bain.

Dwight Sisson of the home town team got in on the act at 6:25 when Chris Hodgson and Andy Salvatori assisted for the goal. Bewdley scored on a power play after Jerry Campbell received a penalty for holding. Tim Oram picked up a five-minute major here. Bewdley struck again at 18:02 on a power play, but Haliburton neutralized the effort when they scored five seconds later. Andy Salvatori received a hat-trick on the goal.

To seal the fate of Bewdley and to put the lid on a rough game, Joe Roberts put one in at 19:12, which was assisted by Dave Levely. The final score was 10 to 4. The winning goaltender was Paul Beatty while Ian McDonnell took the loss.

Now in game two on the weekend, when the Huskies travelled to Madoc, things became somewhat quieter with the action closer.

Though Madoc incurred seven penalties in the first period including a five-minute misconduct by Art Nicholas, scoring was kept to a minimum. Haliburton struck first on a short-handed goal by Randy Barras from Joe Roberts.

But Madoc was to get in on the act too. At the 15:49 mark, the hometowners picked up a short-handed goal, tying the visitors 1 to 1 at the end of the first.

Madoc took the lead in the second when they scored late in the period at the 14:58 mark.

There were five penalties in this period compared to Haliburton's four. No other scoring took place.

In the final period of play, Haliburton tied when Randy Barras scored his second goal of the game. Joe Roberts also got his second assist of the game on the play.

The final goal of the game, which made Haliburton the winner came at 15:02 when Chris Hodgson scored unassisted, making the final score 3 to 2 in the visitor's favour. Craig Wood was the winning goaltender, while George Misuraca took the loss.

The Huskies' next game will be played on Friday when the team travels to Bancroft. The two will meet again Sunday night when Bancroft comes to Haliburton for a game.

The winners and new Kawartha 'A' champs; the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen. "These young men have lived up to their personal goals," said coach Gary Brohman, "and now, they've lived up to their team goals." See the next page for details of the game.

Amnesty period available for guns

The entire month of November 1978 has been declared an amnesty period under National Firearms Amnesty Program. During this time a person will be allowed to turn in certain firearms, to the local Police authority, to be registered or for disposal. Restricted weapons may be brought to the nearest police detachment, without obtaining the customary conveyance permit, during this month, and be registered or disposed of in accordance with the owners wishes. You may, if you prefer, notify the detachment, and an officer will attend at your residence, to register your weapon or receive same for disposal.

Does this affect you? Class I - Prohibited Weapons: Fully automatic weapons, sawed-off shotguns or rifles with barrels less than 18 inches long or an overall length less than 26 inches are prohibited. In addition, the following weapons have also been classified as prohibited: switchblade knives; various martial arts weapons; any devices using chemicals or electricity to immobilize or incapacitate must be disposed of by turning them in to the nearest police authority.

Class II - Restricted Weapons

All hand guns (revolvers pistols) and any semi-automatic (autoloading) rifle using centre fire ammunition, with a barrel length under 18½ inches must all be registered by contacting the police.

Class III - Sporting Rifles and Shotguns

All weapons manufactured for hunting or sporting purposes that do not fit into Class I or Class II categories are

Safety, instant cash and a good return

New Canada Savings Bonds are a safe, secure investment. They're instant cash anytime. And now they earn a higher return—9.25% every year for 7 years.

All purchasers will receive the new rate, even though the application forms and the bond certificates have the old rates printed on them. The new rate is effective from November 1 to maturity in 1985.

The Regular Interest Bond

If you want a regular annual income from your investment, you'll like the Regular Interest Bond which pays interest automatically each November 1.

If you're like many bondholders, you'll appreciate the direct deposit feature. With this convenient option, your interest is deposited directly into your chequing or savings account.

Simply ask for it when you buy your new bonds. Or, you can receive your interest by cheque through the mail.

The Compound Interest Bond

If you seek savings growth, or an investment for the future, or a retirement fund, you'll choose the Compound Interest Bond which earns interest on your interest, after the first year, at the increased rate of 9.25%.

Here's how the value of a $100 bond grows:

Nov. 1	Value	Nov. 1	Value
1979	$109.25	1983	$155.63
1980	$119.36	1984	$170.03
1981	$130.40	1985	$185.76
1982	$142.46

The choice is yours

You can buy the Regular Interest Bond for cash in denominations of $300, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

The Compound Interest Bond may be purchased for cash or on the convenient Monthly Savings Plan in denominations starting at $100.

A dual purchase limit

You may buy new Canada Savings Bonds in various amounts up to a limit of $30,000. In addition, holders of "S24" and "SR" bonds may reinvest all proceeds from their maturing bonds in the new Series.

Buy yours now

Millions of Canadians will be buying Canada Savings Bonds again this year. So visit your bank, investment dealer, trust company or credit union as soon as possible and take advantage of the increased interest rate. Do it now and avoid the rush.

Redmen snatch Kawartha 'A' championship

'We are the champions....'

By Joe Banks Staff Writer

You could cut the air with a knife.

Shouts of "Redmen! Redmen!" came from the home team's bench, adding to the tense, but exciting atmosphere surrounding the football field at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

As far as high school football championship games go, this one was a classic. Yard for yard, play for play, the Haliburton Redmen matched Lakefield College on home turf last Wednesday. The team defeated Lakefield by a score of 22 to 7, capturing the Kawartha 'A' division championship.

"These young men have lived up to their personal goals," said an ecstatic coach Brohman after the game, "and now, they've lived up to their team goals."

Coach Brohman did not exaggerate. Amidst cries from the fans on the sidelines of "Come on DEEEEE!" and coach Brohman's own yells of "mental error!" and "think win!", the team played with a confident flow throughout the match.

Thanks to Lakefield's errors and Haliburton's ability to capitalize on them, the Redmen increased their lead. In the first quarter, Lakefield fumbled the ball after the kick-off. The Haliburton squad regained possession. A quick pitch was called to halfback Scott Arbutnott, on the 20-yard line, and Arbutnott ran the ball in for the first touchdown of the game. Halfback Dave Pratt gave excellent blocking on the play and cleared the way for Arbutnott.

The two-point conversion attempt was missed, but quarterback Tim Davies partially made up for the miss when he scored a 40-yard single later in the quarter.

But with third down and inches to go on Haliburton's own 35-yard line, the squad lost the ball to Lakefield. This cost Haliburton an important touchdown, and with the convert uncompleted, the score was 7 to 6 for Haliburton near the end of the first quarter.

But, determined not to trot off the field with Lakefield at the helm, Haliburton tried their 'ten' pass. In the last play of the quarter, Pratt caught the ball at mid-field from Davies and didn't stop with it until he was brought down on Lakefield's two-yard line. The play had started at Haliburton's 35-yard line.

After the teams traded ends, it was Arbutnott who scored on a two-yard plunge. From here, says coach Brohman, "we (the Redmen) totally shut off their running game. We kept them under 100 yards."

In the second quarter, the Lakefield punter kicked a 40-yard single pointer to decrease the margin to 14 to 7. With that score, the half ended.

During the break, the advice coach Brohman gave to his team was simple. "Just keep on doing what you've been doing." At that point, coach Brohman said later that he felt the Redmen were "physically tougher."

But in the third, problems started to stack up against the squad. Haliburton had the wind, but it was what coach Brohman termed as "penalty problems" and "mental errors" that caused the team to accumulate five penalties in a row. But things became a little brighter for Haliburton came up with the closing touchdown. And, after some attempting at a convert that day, Davies finally kicked a single.

With the end of the game, the Redmen bench and the rest of the coaching staff were carried on the shoulders of the young men they had coached to a 5 win, 1 loss season. The final score was 22 to 7.

"It's hard to name names," said coach Brohman of the team. "It was totally a team effort. Offensively, we capitalized on their mistakes, and defensively, we just held them."

"But special mention should go to Tim Davies for his execution as a quarterback when next fall rolls around, there will be coach Brohman shouting out orders to his team. There will be the young fans crowding the edge of the HHSS field. There will be the practices, the wins and the losses.

But next year, the Redmen will be the defending Kawartha 'A' champions.

This scene of Haliburton Redmen snowing Lakefield's ball carriers became a common sight at the final game held at Haliburton last week. A stacked defence against key Lakefield players, plus excellent offensive efforts by the team gave Haliburton the victory and the Kawartha 'A' championship.

Coach Brohman with player - tension, thought after they scored a single to end the quarter 15 to 7.

And that, added coach Brohman, "seemed to lift us."

For Haliburton, with the advent of the final quarter, there was no looking back. Lakefield began to panic in the final quarter, and the team became detached from their original game plan. Haliburton assembled a stacked defence against key Lakefield players, and this seemed to be the beginning of the end for the visitors.

Lakefield began throwing the ball, which was not their intended game plan. As a result, Haliburton came up with three interceptions throughout the quarter.

At the three-minute warning, Lakefield's fate was sealed when inside linebacker Mike Iles capitalized on one of these interceptions and back, as a general handing the ball off, and for his punting and kicking abilities."

Davies ends the season with 88 attempts, 40 completions with a gain of 456 yards. His completion average ended up at .455.

So with the season ended, the Redmen can relax. But

News from Extendicare

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

The first film on Monday included scenes from Alaska, a land much like our Yukon which we tend to think of in terms of igloos, but on the contrary is quite modern and not much different from Peterborough as compared with Anchorage which is also a thriving community.

It is quite a conference of first ministers that are again tackling the problem of arriving at a written constitution for Canada which will get the unanimous approval of all the ministers. Before it is over, it will have resolved itself into an exercise of give and take on the part of each. The matter of bilingualism probably will be settled for all time. Whether the two presently official languages will be entrenched in our basic law or not will be decided. If entrenched, it will be a very unnecessarily ponderous and extravagant expense to the taxpayers, no doubt chiefly by the effort of the anglophones. The problem of ever increasing labour turmoil in Canada, is a condition that will defy resolution. The Trudeau-Levesque team will simply move to Francophone Quebec to go its separate ways leaving the Anglos to manage a bilingual constitution.

Monday's baking production was devoted to the treats of Hallowe'en for Tuesday night; Norman Titus, Mrs. Florence Stagg, Mrs. Flossie Burk, Mrs. Ada Denholm, Mrs. Hazel Parish and Alice Hartle, all contributed to the production of taffy candies, popcorn balls, and a huge pan of rice crisps squares in an effort to appease the gremlins who demand of us to give them treats or they play tricks. We have to be ready to deliver in the face of such a dire threat.

Our Tuesday bingo has become quite an institution lasting a solid hour each week with the volunteers helping. Serving this week were: Mrs. Betty Wise, Mrs. Dorothy Iles and Mrs. Dorothy Davidson. It is the one exercise that draws the most resident appeal.

Tuesday evening being the last evening in October, the elite of the village, meaning the little ones, presented themselves to us at Extendicare in the form of spirits known or not known, witches, elves, goblins, gremlins, fairies and demanded their toll of us for 1978 or they would take measures that we would not like. They were so cute in their disguises and so scary, there was nothing we could do but meet their demands, which was to hand out the goodies that we had gotten ready on Monday. They made Hallowe'en stand out for us as a time of great importance.

We are in receipt of a cheque from the "Minden Slender Seekers" for the use of our Gestetner. It is very nice for us to have a little income.

We are expecting to have a somewhat restrictive liquor licence early in the new year, staffed by an outside bar-keep. It will be nice to have this facility, though as we know, there could be a slip up between now and at the end of the year.

Now is probably the lowest ebb in respect to our plants and flowers. Soon we will be taking cuttings and nursing them into flowerig plants. An interesting side issue touches on our patio boxes or planters, which this summer and last were a mass of bloom. In the fall, after the killing frosts, this mass of vegetation was simply healed in with the feeling we had that a transformation of this would occur during the winter; which apparently is what happened. The soil this spring was quite mellow with no sign of the healed vegetation. However, talk programs on the radio make it most desirable to break down this vegetation because no decomposing activity occurs in soil during cold weather. It is well then that we did not hear these radio programs until very recently.

Thursday evening it was nice to see Mrs. Lila Simmons and Jake Gill sit down to a game of euchre with Lila's sister and niece. Lila's health has not been good lately.

Mr. Jim Cooper of The Gideons International in Canada, was our sky pilot for our devotional period Friday morning, accompanied by Miss Kim Brown, a neighbour resident at the piano, and Charles Plewman on the harmonica. Mr. Cooper's wife Doris was with us. The theme was that men and women have lived by faith throughout history. Many familiar examples of this were quoted from the scriptures, such as Enoch, Noah, Abraham and Paul. The get-together after this service over tea and coffee and cookies was very nice.

The afternoon movies were interesting. Kew Gardens, or the Royal Botanical Gardens of London, are somewhat identical with the Royal Botanical Gardens, Hamilton, Ont. Both are world renowned and both service the world, as covered very nicely in this movie. The 5,000 miles along the Trans-Canada Highway from Atlantic to Pacific could have been made much more alluring by the photographer. A nuclear power demonstration was excellent, but should be viewed once a month to give the massive details time to digest and then be viewed again until a good grasp of the subject is achieved. In that case, much less alarm would be generated by the ominous word "nuclear".

Guild of Fine Arts News

by Carole McLean

As a somewhat new member of the guild, 1 1/2 years to be exact, I feel a relative baby compared to our senior members, who have for many years shouldered the responsibility of organization, but never more so than now. I have been asked and accepted the task of convening the Christmas Show and Sale, to coincide with the other activities planned for the November 24 weekend celebrations. I have always believed that to truly belong to any organization you must pay your dues and within the guild, it means being willing to volunteer your time and energy. The satisfaction you receive from being a working member and the knowledge that your help, regardless of degree, have helped make its endeavours a success which cannot be described.

As I have never chaired a project before, I'm literally treading virgin territory and sincerely thank those who have given me their more experienced advice and help. It has so far, made my job that much easier. There is still a lot to be done to make this endeavour and the other activities that weekend a success and it will take all our members in order to do this - won't you please help.

Birth of the Guild
The school continued to receive a surprising amount of financial support from well wishers. Their successful fall courses attracted even more involvement on the part of such people as Leslie M. Frost, whose continued interest in the Haliburton Highlands and any process of adult education emanating from the area, made him a logical endorser.

At a meeting which Frost attended in the fall of 1967, which also included David Sutherland of Sir Sandford College, the Haliburton Highlands School of Fine Arts was able to state that their fall courses made a profit. At this point, Frost remarked "your organization belongs in a record book, if Ontario's Department of Education keeps one, for yours is the first endeavour of its kind to make money."

By November 12, it became apparent that contrary to their hopes, the Haliburton School of Fine Arts, until this time a volunteer organization lacked the finances and equipment to run an expanded school since things like looms and kilns required considerable outlay, as well as additional upkeep and maintenance costs. To the management committee, a tie-up with Sir Sandford Fleming College seemed its most desirable option and it was pledged by David Sutherland. The college would pay the instructors and set-up extension courses from the college at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts, but the administrative work would remain in the hands of the local volunteers. The school would grow now with a guarantee of financial success. The first rung in the ladder had been achieved and the founding volunteer members continued to build its growth in other directions with its aims and objectives remaining true to Reverend McCaw's dream to make the Highlands of Haliburton the Arts and Crafts Centre of eastern Canada, one of high standards and principals. The two would work together, the School of Fine Arts and its volunteer parent branch, the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts.

Next week - The School and Guild, Working Together.

Pottery Group
As another plan for the November 24 weekend takes shape, we see the pottery group has undertaken a special fund raising project. They are producing special medallions commemorating the 100 years since the first train arrived at the Haliburton station in 1878. These medallions will be given out to all guests attending the November 24 dance and buffet, in a reinactment of the first potluck dinner and dance held 100 years ago in Haliburton.

Rug Hookers Group
The October 30 meeting held at Hyland Crest in Minden saw 19 members present to attend the first class in rug hooking under the tutelage of Daisy Bond. The classes will continue each Monday for four consecutive weeks at Hyland Crest. The first class's instruction consisted of the basics in rug hooking, putting the canvas on the hoop, use of hook, the cutting of materials to be used and then working from the underside of the design, how to correctly shade a leaf.

Next Monday's lesson will be the shading of all basic flowers, the Rose, Morning Glory, Lily and Pansy used in rug hooking.

High School Arts and Crafts Program
The special interest survey conducted at the Haliburton High School last week for the proposed arts and crafts program, has proven that our young adults are keenly interested in this endeavour. A special thanks is extended to Ken Rydman, head of the guidance department and the group of students who rushed the tabulating of those survey sheets in order for it to appear in this column. Out of the 620 sheets distributed, 168 were signed and working on that percentage the results are as follows.

Fifty per cent were interested in touring the school of fine arts facilities. Ninety per cent were willing to pay the $5 fee to cover the cost of materials. Fifty per cent were in favour of the 3:05 - 5:00 p.m., 2 days a week for 2 weeks course.

The remainder wanted the 3:05 - 5:00 p.m. 1 day a week for a month. As some students were interested in more than one craft the figures are as follows: 39 - leather work, 36 - macrame, 44 - candle making, 13 - spinning, 19 - batik, 32 - oil painting, 71 - drawing, 7 - pinecone wreath, 25 - dried flower arranging, 57 - pottery, 13 - Christmas decorations, 16 - weaving, 6 - art appreciation, 13 - water colour painting.

There are certain beliefs which are of no vital importance because they have little or no effect on conduct or character, neither do they affect our eternal destiny. But there are beliefs which do influence conduct and destiny. Take the heroes set forth in Hebrews chapter eleven for example. Here we see the tremendous effect that men's faith in God had upon their outlook in life, their hopes, their conduct and their character. A strong faith in what God says about the unseen and eternal, profoundly influences a person's whole being.

The Word of God, which is the Bible, reveals two worlds to us, the world of true faith and the world of unbelief. It divides all mankind into two classes, "believers," Acts 5:14, 1 Timothy 4:12 and unbelievers, Luke 12:46, 1 Corinthians 6:6, 14:23, 11 Corinthians 6:14. There simply is no alternative, we are either believers or unbelievers. Being religious does not alter the fact. The Lord Jesus divided men according to their attitude to Him. He was confronted with many who did not believe on Him, yet these were the very people who professed to believe in Jehovah God.

Jesus declared this to be an impossibility, for if they believed in Jehovah God they would believe in Him also. John 8:19, 38:42. Their attitude toward Jesus was a conclusive proof that they did not believe in the true God; it proved them to be unbelievers, the children of the devil. Verse 44. Everything, yes everything depends on the attitude of men to Jesus Christ. A man's belief concerning Him determines everything. It influences his thoughts, speech, feelings, motives, actions, character and eternal destiny.

In a true Scriptural belief that is of any value, a person comes to the end of himself. That person sees himself as God sees him, a lost sinner and in a spirit of true repentance casts himself entirely on what Christ did for him or her on Calvary. Such faith produces love, humility, purity, goodness, forbearance, and in these very things evidence is given of possessing true saving faith. Many people believe all sorts of things about Christ, but it does not affect their lives in the least, and thus they remain just as proud, selfish and worldly as before. Nothing but faith in the Lord Jesus as a personal Savior will change and transform their

"We, the undersigned, wish to publicly express sincere appreciation to "Sinc Nesbitt" the present reeve of the Township of Stanhope for his hard work, devotion and dedication while serving as reeve of this township.

Over the past 12 years, we have gained the most utmost respect for "Sinc" and although there were most certainly times when individually we could not agree with his views and opinions on municipal matters, we found that collectively his views were in the best interests of the municipality as a whole.

Thank you "Sinc" for a job well done and we wish you every success in the future.

Corn Stabilization

Corn producers, who signed up to participate in the 1977 Ontario Corn Stabilization Program, have been expecting their claim forms for over a month. These forms are now ready for mailing, so they should arrive in the county any day now.

The 1977 corn crop is eligible for stabilization payments from both the federal and provincial governments. This is due to the average market price being $2.12 a bushel.

The federal support payment is 14 cents a bushel and the net provincial payment is an additional 8 cents a bushel. Farmers will only have to complete one claim form to collect both payments.

Only those corn producers who enrolled in the 1977 corn plan before January 16, 1978, are eligible for the provincial payment. Other Victoria County Farmers who sold grain corn between September 1, 1977, and August 31, 1978, may be eligible for the federal payment. They should contact the agricultural office in Lindsay for more details.

Controlling Warbles and Lice

Last week was Warble and Lice Control Week in the area. A series of nine demonstrations were held on Victoria County farms, with a good turnout of cattle owners. The cattlemen's association and milk committee co-operated in sponsoring these demonstrations.

Everyone who owns cattle should be considering treating them this month to control warbles. It only takes a few cattle with untreated warbles on each concession, to maintain this pest as a costly nuisance to all the cattlemen in the neighbourhood.

Using a systemic insecticide is safe, effective and costs only cents an animal. Treatment can mean increased rate of gain and feed efficiency for all young cattle, beef or dairy, and in cattle being finished for spring markets, treatments means there will be less financial loss due to damaged carcasses and hides.

With the price of beef cattle - and dairy heifers - today, you can't afford not to treat this fall. Remember the deadline for safe use of a systemic insecticide is December 1.

These insecticides are readily available. The product names are Co-Ral, Grubex, Neguvor, Ruelene, Co-op Warble Killer and Spoton. Be sure to read the label and follow instructions for its use carefully.

Farmers in Victoria and Haliburton Counties who have never treated cattle for warbles and lice with a systemic insecticide, can obtain more information on how to use it, by calling the Lindsay Agricultural Office.

Haliburton Legion News

are still thousands of World War Two veterans with us but they too are approaching old age.

The expression "age shall not weary them nor the years condemn", is a fitting tribute to those who did not return. They are eternally young. The first thing that pilgrims to the war cemeteries in Europe notice is the tremendous number of crosses and the ages of those who lie there. How beautiful they were, in the full flower of their youth. One remembers them with all the exuberance of the young of today, engaging in all the sports and social activities that occupy young people now, exasperating their elders but loving life with their boundless energy and planning for adulthood which was on the threshold. And then war enveloped them. Do you recall how cheerfully and willingly they went? What an adventure it was, one from which so many would not return.

Remembrance Day means many different things to people today. To the veterans it means getting together and talking about our experiences, to parents and relatives it means recalling the waiting, rationing, the flurry of employment after years of depression and finally, for some, the arrival of that dreaded telegram. For more and more younger people there is no recollection of war whatsoever. For that we can all be truly thankful. To those of you who cannot remember, we would ask you to think. Some of you are now approaching middle age, therefore you are "old" compared lives. To believe on Him as the Son of God our Saviour and to abide in that One by faith, is to possess eternal life. Not to believe in Him and to live for self and unto the world, is to live under the condemnation and wrath of God. John 3:36.

The Apostle John clearly saw the difference between true and false belief. It was after a long experience with Christ, and after close observation of men, that he wrote his "First Epistle". He had seen the difference faith in Christ and fellowship with Him had made in his own life. He also had witnessed the great change true believing faith had made in the lives of all classes of men and women.

Thus John was in a good position to judge whether men possessed a faith that was genuine or false. He had seen worldly-wise enter the assemblies and leave. 1 John 2:19. These prided themselves with their superior spiritual knowledge, yet they were lacking greatly of love. 3:17-18. Their attitudes were unrighteous verse 7-8, and they were deniers of the Deity of the Lord Jesus. 2:22-23, 4:3.

All these things proved to John that there is a faith which is not saving Apostolic faith but rather it was a faith which had its source from Satan, as was seen in its fruits. The signs of true faith are belief in the Deity and Saviourhood of Christ. 1 John 4:3, 5:1. That belief is followed by a life of practical holiness and love, where evil is hated and shunned and righteousness loved. It is a life lived in likeness to the walk of Him in whom we have put our trust. 2:6. True saving faith is always known by proper conduct and the fruits of love, Galatians 5:22. "Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God; and every one that loveth Him that begat loveth Him also that is begotten of Him." 1 John 5:1.

ing into the rocks once again. And as if the general state of affairs weren't enough to give me a big pain in the arm, there's the local. My wife, after lugging her smashing new expensive white coat for about 10,000 miles this summer, in and out of 20 hotels, on and off countless buses and boats, trains and planes, has lost the blasted thing in her own home town.

My daughter, with three degrees, is working as a file clerk, an honourable vocation, but scarcely one to make the creative impulses throb. My son-in-law is looking for a job, a rather harrowing business these days.

And my grandboys are out of all those fine new clothes we bought them last spring. The only thing they're not out of is energy and fiendish ability to dismantle things that electrical engineers would be afraid to touch.

I have a brand-new set of golf clubs with which I can hit the ball twelve feet. On a clear day. With a strong tailwind.

I tell yez, b'ys, if it weren't for all them old people, I'd be tempted to pack it all in, head for Florida, and sit on a bench in the sun, mumbling my gums.

But I guess things could be worse. I've got enough money to pay that $7.80 blackmark for a non-parking parking ticket. I can fight the Feds on that mysterious assessment. I can live without the post office, though they sure know how to hurt a syndicated columnist, dependent on the mails.

And just maybe, when the dollar has hit 75 cents, unemployment has hit 10 per cent, and inflation settles in two figures, we'll get some enough to kick those tired flacks out of Ottawa.

My wife will find her coat. I found my pants last year, after they'd been missing four months. They were 120 miles away, in the hall closet of my father-in-law. And there was a twenty dollar bill in the pocket.

My daughter will get a job, probably as head of the CBC. My son-in-law will get a job, probably as his wife's copy and coffee boy. My grandboys will develop into great engineers. Or form a wrecking company and get rich knocking things apart.

Maybe I'll stick'er out a few months yet. But I wish I could do it like the ground-hogs - just fatten up, crawl into a hole and sleep until spring.

Parliament

Our national institutions are not Trudeau's institutions - they are ours! Our institutions belong to all Canadians. Because a government majority in the House of Commons can cancel out any effective opposition to its legislative programs, the only way that the average Canadian can express himself or herself on the Constitutional amendment process is through provincial legislatures, or, in a national referendum.

We must have an amending formula, such as those found in other democratic countries, before we set out to amend the Constitution. Trudeau is putting the cart before the horse.

That formula should not be worked out by Parliament, but by a Constituent Assembly, and it should sit without any pre-set deadline. Where Constitutional amendment is concerned, since there is no demonstrated need for haste, time is something we have in abundance.

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

There is a rhyme that goes "A hunting we will go", that is the theme right now in Haliburton County. With only one week of hunting, the whole area is lacking a lot of the men. We wish them a good week, even if they do not spot any deer. The way the weather is, the tracking may not be good, but as always it is a time to get away from it all. All we hope is that there are no accidents, and that everyone enjoys the week.

Ron Welch of Frankford spent several days with his mother, Mrs. Edith Welch, recently.

This Friday, November 10, is when the Figure Skating Club will have the draw for the basket of groceries. Do not forget to get a ticket.

Had the pleasure of chatting with Ed Milligan's sister last week. How many remember when Ed was a policeman here. She said he was fine and having many happy memories of Minden. I asked her to ask someone if they remembered him, she was happy that I did.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carrell spent several days in Oshawa and Toronto last week.

Did you see the Santa Claus parade last Sunday? I didn't as the television was quiet all day, well at least most of the day. Had a phone call from our family in Victoria, British Columbia, on Sunday night and they had watched it. When the announcer said the weather was in the sixties they could hardly believe it. Their weather out there had been nice for a few days, but before that it had rained and poured. They did not have the floods, which were north of the province, but had plenty of rain.

The Single Parents Group will be holding their meeting this Thursday evening. For more information phone 457-1537. This is good for all single parents as they can air their woes, and will find out how others have dealt with their problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rivers of Downsview spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Coulter.

I would like to get the comments of the readers of my column. Do you want me to just report the local news, or do you like the column the way it is done, throwing in my own comments as well? I would like to hear your ideas. My phone number is 286-1674. To me, a column is not just the news around town, as you will have noticed, but other items as well, but will abide by your wishes to some extent.

Myles Morrison of Hamilton spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Alice Morrison.

Many of you may have wondered just as I have, about the elections being so early. Just remember to get out next Monday and cast your vote, then if things do not suit you, you have a right to gripe. Anyone who does not vote should not gripe, because your vote might decide the issue on this one or that. The council that is voted in next week will take office by the first of December. Boy, everything is being moved up; sure hope the holidays stay the same or we'll all be mixed up, won't we.

Winners at the Mini Card Party last week were: cribbage - Cora Hewitt, Audrey Wilkinson; bridge - Diane Warner; euchre - Shirley Elcome; Alice Clark; lone hand - Gladys Wruth.

Mrs. Lily Hogg spent the past weekend with the Taylor Hogg at Parry Sound. While there she attended the wedding of her granddaughter Barbara who married Monty Wood.

Have you checked the store windows lately? Every month the Minden Businessmen's Association are putting out a calendar of events and these are posted in most store windows. These are really great and you can see what will be coming up for each month. If you also have an event to be put on the calendar, just phone 286-1191, and it will be on next month's calendar. All this for free, so hats off to the businessmen for a great idea.

Ted and June Johnson and Randy of Scarborough spent the weekend with Mrs. Fred Wright.

The Figure Skating Club will be skating every Monday, Wednesday and Friday after school. For more details, call Mrs. Jeff Campbell.

Harcourt News

The Harcourt Community Centre held a bazaar and bake sale, Saturday, October 28, put on by the Harcourt Ladies Committee. It was a huge success and we would like to thank the local ladies for their lovely contributions to the bazaar and very tasty contributions to the bake sale. A very special thanks to Mrs. Millie Simpson for her labour on the afghan which we raffled off. The winner of the afghan was Mrs. Joan Sanderson of Wilberforce.

On Saturday, October 28, the Harcourt Ladies Committee held their fall bazaar and tea.

Tickets had previously been sold on a draw for an afghan and two pillows made by Millie Simpson. Winner of the draw was Joan Sanderson of Wilberforce.

Next week we will have the names of the winners of the turkey shoot.

Eleanor Young - 126, Isabel Saunders - 122, Peggy Brown - 120, Flo Parnell - 110, Lily Burridge - 91, Marie Reynolds - 81. High average flat - 186, Cy Preston; high single flat - 268, Roy Parnell, 330, Ruby 213, Virna Wagg; Francis; High Triple flat - 614, Rowland Sedgwick; 726, Virna Wagg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox had Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rylance and Will of Rosemeath visit them over the weekend.

The Minor Hockey Dance last Saturday evening was well attended and there were many in costume, but no witches, goblins or ghosts. The best man's prize was won by Jim Garbutt as "Snoopy".

and the best ladies prize was an "Arabian Girl" who was Jeannette Nesbitt. The baseball player number 5, kept all guessing until she unmasked and then everyone knew it was Helen Yake.

The United Church saw its quota of wedding showers over the past week as there was one for Cathy last Friday, then on Monday was the one for Lynne Petney.

Winners at the L.O.B.A. card party on October 30 were: euchre - Myrtle Carpenter and Trudy Coulter, George Hewitt and Harold Coulter; lone hand - Della Griffin; cribbage - Joyce Hewitt on a cut of cards.

Adios and take care now.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Faulkner, Lisa and Lona and Elizabeth Hayworth of Sturgeon Falls; Mr. and Mrs. James Mohr and Tina of Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. James Mann of Lindsay were visitors of Mrs. Mildred Faulkner.

The Legion held a very successful costume dance for Halloween last Saturday night. Dressing up in the different costumes made it a real fun night for those who attended.

Mr. Wally Betts is now home from hospital. Others who were briefly in hospital but are now home are Mrs. Cheryl Hannivan, Mrs. Harvey Bradimore and Mr. Dean Spry.

On Monday night, the local firemen hosted mutual aid firefighters. Over 50 firemen were in attendance. Two experts from Toronto also were there and spoke on plastics and other hazards in the home. If you check over the many housewares, clothing and appliances that are now made of plastics, you can see why there could be a fire hazard in many, many homes.

The local firemen all learned much from the guest speakers.

Mr. Terry Andrews is again accepting students who wish to learn art. Classes are held in his art shop at the back of North's Decorating store across from Sheild's Hardware. Drop in and ask for details and sign up for an interesting hobby.

Fifteen-year-old Jennifer Batty is competing in Toronto this weekend for the all-Ontario cross country running for Midget girls class. Jennifer has won all previous competitions, running at I.E. Weldon Secondary School in Lindsay, the Lakefield competition, Campbellford competition, the Peterborough Kawartha meet and the Oshawa competition. It's about a 2-mile race and we wish Jennifer well.

Congratulations to Mrs. Lillian Tufts who was 81 on November 3. Also, to Mrs. Mary Wilkinson who is 83 years young on November 5. Mrs. Earl Hughes hosted a birthday party for her mother, Mrs. Tufts on November 3 and was joined by another of Mrs. Tufts' daughters and

Correction

It was incorrectly stated in the Tory Hill News last week that the warden's banquet held at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre in October was served by ladies from Tory Hill and Harcourt. The banquet was, in fact, catered by the Wilberforce United Church Women (UCW). Ladies from Tory Hill and Harcourt helped at the banquet. We regret the error.

All would agree, I'm sure, that the Ladies Auxiliary's Halloween Dance on Saturday, October 28, was a great success. The Misty River Ramblers group supplied most enjoyable music and were well acclaimed by the dancing crowd. The lucky winner of the trip for two to the Bahamas' or $650 cash was Donna Burroughs of Harcourt, who has decided to take the cash instead of the trip. The auxiliary members would like to thank everyone who supported this draw and purchased tickets. About $1,000 was realized over and above the cost of the trip. Very special thanks to Lynda Easton and Jean Boyce, who were involved from the beginning in the details of planning the trip and to Mary Graham who had the unenviable task of distributing and picking up the draw tickets and handling the receipts. The auxiliary is most grateful too, to those who supplied the refreshments for the Halloween Dance. Pam Brohm as Charlie Chaplin was the winner of the ladies class of the costumes while Vern LeCraw won the men's class attired in a woman's dress and wig.

Recently, Jennifer Batty, daughter of Jack and Jean Batty, RR 1, Coboconk, who is a first year student at Fenelon Falls Secondary School has been very successful competing in Midget Girls cross country meets which cover approximately two miles. She placed first at a meet at I.E. Weldon School, Lindsay, at Lakefield, Campbellford, Peterborough, and again last week at C.O.S.S.A. meet which covers all of Central Ontario. Our sincere congratulations to this outstanding young runner.

A large group of interested ladies met at the Women's Institute Hall on Wednesday, November 1. They learned some of the ways that discarded clothes and other things can be reused or recycled into useful and attractive articles. For the month of November, each Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Women's Institute Hall, Mrs. Edith Sanders and Mrs. Margaret Creelman will assist all interested persons in adapting their problem items into something worthwhile. Mrs. Ruby Law has offered, also to help anyone who would like to learn the fundamentals of rug and wall hooking. Plan to come each Wednesday afternoon in November. You'll like it.

Fae Quinn was the lucky lady who won the firemen's hockey pool on Saturday, October 28.

Voting day for our municipal elections is on Monday, November 13. Be sure and cast your vote. It is up to you who will be our next reeve, deputy reeve and the three men on council who will make the decisions where your tax dollars will be spent for the next two years. I was surprised to learn that two of the men who are running in this election - Bob Connack for reeve and Fred Kay for deputy reeve, do not have telephones. For a man to be accessible and to be able to talk and discuss your problems with him, I would think that it is most important that he could be reached most times by telephone.

Halloween has come and gone again and, for the most part, no malicious damage was done in this area. Some pranksters thought that it was fun to throw eggs, and rotten green tomatoes at windows and buildings, but those who had to clean them up the next day didn't think so. My, what a waste of good eggs! There were a few leaf fires set on the highway and the bridge on highway 503, just east of Norland had a fire of hay bales, rubber tires and fuel oil burning on it which the firemen were called to put out. I think that the weather was as pleasant as any that we've ever had for Halloween because usually October 31 is wet and cold.

Speaking of weather, everyone has been enjoying this lovely week of Indian summer, I'm sure. Many of you are probably trying to finish up those last outside chores before the warm air and sunshine move on. As one rakes the leaves, those awful black flies are out in full force to spoil the warmth and pleasure of good weather. However, I'll delight in this unexpected sunny time while

I hope you have been home when some of the election hopefuls have called on you. It's a good chance to ask them some questions on the upcoming term of service for your township.

The weather could not have been better this first week of November; no snow, lovely warm summerlike days. How much longer will this last? The deer hunters are hopefully looking for snow but I doubt they will have it. Could be this is one hunting season the deer will have weather in their favour.

Mrs. Jean Callan is off to spend this week with daughter-in-law Audrey and family at Little Britain while Audrey's husband Gary is away hunting.

The Patti House dining room, so far as Chinese food is concerned, closes this weekend. They have enjoyed a busy season.

Halloween was a very quiet night up our way, but in the village itself, some people reported having more than 100 trick or treaters.

Last Thursday afternoon, Sharon McKnight and myself were invited out to PineStone Inn, along with several other Haliburton area ladies, for a lunch and conference, put on by Tupperware Home Parties. It was a very interesting and enjoyable afternoon.

Lisa Jones visited in Toronto over the weekend, with her sister Shelley and attended the Santa Claus Parade.

Frank McLeod and Bernard Bain are coming along very well, following surgery last week.

Leon Jones and Cleve Sison are guiding a hunting party at Kinnis Lake.

There are very few men left in the area this week because most of them are in hunting camps.

Barbara Adams was in a bowling tournament in Oshawa on Sunday.

Mrs. Marion Johnston, is home for the week, with her daughter Linda. She is staying at their cottage, while Lloyd does a little hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hancock, (Carolyn Cooper) have a new daughter. She was born on October 27. Carolyn and Claude are living in Brimbrook, Ontario.

The ladies of St. Andrew's Church are planning a concert, to be held at the community centre on December 1.

Paul Madden, Elizabeth Cooper and Bonnie Stevens each won a music award on Honours Night at the High School.

Carnarvon News

by Yvonne Penney

Winter must be just around the corner. Maurice and Blanche Windsor have left for the sunny south as well as Rose and Muriel Harrison. Also, Fred and Mary Alan have gone to Texas to spend the winter months.

Congratulations are in order to some newcomers to our community. Mr. and Mrs. Van Der Weken have added a new son to the family, a brother for Penney and Lynn. Monday, October 30, 1978, saw four new Brownies enrolled as well as five Brownies flying up to the Guide company. Forty-two mothers and daughters attended a pot luck supper held at the C.E. building - Zion United Church. Our Guide company, 1st Carnarvon, is under the able leadership of Mrs. Arlene Edwards of Maple Lake and Mrs. Ali Hogg of Carnarvon. Brownies are still under the capable threesome of Mrs. Cathy Thomas as Brown Owl, Dianne Thomas, Tawny Owl and Yvonne Penney, Snowy Owl. 1st Carnarvon Brownies meet in the C.E. building from 7 to 8:30 p.m. every Monday and 1st Carnarvon Guide company from 7 to 9 p.m. in the same building on Monday nights. Any new Brownies or Guides out there?

A baby shower was held last Wednesday night at Zion

United Church for Judy Johnson of Minden. Apparently, it was attended by some 65 ladies and I'm sure Judy was very appreciative of the many gifts and best wishes.

Tuesday of last week saw many little witches, cats and various other creatures wandering the streets of downtown Carnarvon collecting treats and also some Brownies and Owls collecting for UNICEF. The Brownie motto is "Lend a Hand" and that is what UNICEF is all about.

Wednesday night at Matabanick Inn, the Kinsmen over 40 entertained their sons at dinner. After dinner and speeches, the film "North of Superior" was shown. This is an excellent film which is shown at Ontario Place in Toronto. Afterwards the boys and fathers enjoyed playing cards. Joyce Foster and Yvonne Penney served as waitresses for the dinner prepared by the host and hostess, Don and Christine Archer.

Many of the men in the community have gone off for the annual deer hunt. Good luck to them. Eleven mothers and children had dinner out Sunday night at Mr. Fogg's after a mad day getting their husbands and fathers off on their annual vacation.

The Advance Poll was apparently well attended last Saturday. Another advance poll for Anson, Hindon and Minden voters, will be held next Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Don't be apathetic, get out and vote either in the advance poll or the regular poll on November 13 from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Our polling station here in Carnarvon will be held at Carnarvon Lanes and for Stanhope voters, either Club 35 or the Municipal Office.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Carnarvon U.C.W. held their monthly meeting. A film, "Toward Self Help in India" was shown and the devotionals were conducted by Libby Harrison, Helen Burton, Estelle Ralph and Nellie Kerr. The theme was "Missions" and since we support a foster child in India, we focused on India. Sixteen members were present for the lengthy business meeting which followed. The meeting was chaired by Yvonne Penney, vice-president in the absence of the president Elsie Bursey. Our next meeting will be on Wednesday evening, December 6 at 7 p.m. This will be our Christmas meeting and the ladies of all surrounding churches are invited to attend and contribute something to the meeting, a song, a dance or a reading or skit would be appreciated.

Get well wishes go to Carl Doey in Civic Hospital in Peterborough, Dianne Barjow in Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, also to Peg Whitney in Peterborough. I'm sure these people would appreciate a card from their many friends.

As the result of an investigation by provincial constable Al Bibby of the Minden detachment, seven charges of false pretences have been laid against Floyd Henry. The charges involve the

14,000 acres burned in Ontario

MNR fought 843 fires this year, third lowest in years

Ministry of Natural Resources crews, aided by regularly occurring rainfall, fought 843 forest fires this year - the third lowest number of outbreaks during the annual April-to-October fire season in 60 years.

A total of 14,000 acres was burned over, including the area of the largest blaze, a 1,500-acre fire that occurred near Kirkland Lake in July.

Since 1917, the first time forest fire records were kept, Ontario has had only two other lower-frequency years:

1928, when 536 blazes destroyed 100,383 acres, and 1943, when 624 fires destroyed 52,817. The lowest number of acres burned in the last 60 years was 5,281 acres in 1959.

John Walker, fire operations supervisor at the Ministry's fire management centre in Sault Ste. Marie, said precipitation during the season was only slightly above normal, but fell at regular intervals.

"The forest across the north never got a chance to properly dry out and cause problems," he said. "There were not extended periods without rain."

He said the only flurry of activity occurred in the latter part of July when a series of fires broke out in drought-dry areas north of Kingston.

"That was the only period when we had real concern all season," he said. This season, 80 per cent of the forest fires were man-caused, with recreationists accounting for 34 per cent. Twenty per cent of the fires were caused by lightning.

The Sudbury district, with 113 forest fire outbreaks, led all other areas in the province.

Walker said the record low number of forest fires saved money in suppression costs.

For the past three years, the basic operating budget for Ontario forest fire fighting has averaged out at $17 million. This is the cost of gearing up the fire prevention and suppression system and keeping it ready throughout the season, whether or not there are fires.

Over and above this operating budget are the funds required to actually put out the fires that occur during the season. In 1976, the actual fire suppression costs totalled $11 million; in 1977, those actual fire fighting costs were $6 million, and this year, the total will be approximately $1.5 million.

This season was a break for ministry forest fire fighters who have not had a "normal" 1,500-fire year since the early 1970's.

In 1976, the worst year on record, 3,985 forest fires burned over 1.3 million acres destroying an estimated $26.8 million worth of merchantable timber on Crown land and private land, plus other resources and facilities.

Walker said final estimates of this year's damage have not yet been compiled, but that they will be "reasonably low" compared to recent years.

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

How lucky we are to have these crisp days lingering on, extending the time for leave raking, bulb planting and getting a protective covering on precious bushes before the arrival of winter frost.

In Wilberforce, the usual autumn burst of activity exists in the building business. The sound of hammer and saw rings through the air. Several houses are nearing completion. Dwayne Tighe is building his home on the shores of Dark Lake. At a future date, it will lend itself to solar heating. Dwayne is hoping to put the finishing touches on in the spring. Robert Manary is working on a new home in South Wilberforce and Rod Locke of Lindsay is making good progress with his log cabin that is adjacent to the residence of Jim Deterling. Another interesting log house is that of Bernard Olszewski. This home of pine logs is located on Holmes Drive. It was erected by expert builders and it is believed that the building will settle five inches when the logs finally dry out.

On a larger scale is the construction of the new veneer plant with the foundation completed and the steel going up. Also at the Legion Hall of Branch 624, work is going on at the rear of the building where the plans call for a kitchen, conference room and secretary's office upstairs and a utility and recreation room in the basement.

Not far from the Legion on Highway 648, the finishing work is in progress on the bridge for which we have waited many years. No one will be sorry to say goodbye to the old narrow bridge, the cause of so many mishaps.

Dorset News

by Phyllis Briscoe

"Wisdom is knowing when to speak your mind and when to mind your speech." What is so rare as a day in June? Believe it or not, a day in November when it is warm and sunny as it was during the first week of the month. What a change before the onslaught of winter.

The senior group had an entertaining evening last Wednesday when they had as their guests, the Autumn Leaves from Baysville. The performing artist was Joe Graham of Dorset, who displayed his ability to keep people entertained with his slight of hand, card tricks and mind reading. A delicious lunch was served to finish off a pleasant evening.

The goblins and witches have come and gone for another year. I hope none of the kiddies were sick from too many treats. The Dorset Lions put on a party at the Dorset Community Centre for the youngsters. They played games and the different age groups were judged for best costumes. There were so many good masquerade outfits that it was difficult for the judges to decide which ones to give prizes. But they all got treats whether they received a prize or not. This annual party given by the Lions Club is a boon to the community as it entertains the children and it keeps them off the street and out of mischief.

On November 2, there was a meeting of the Dorset Elementary School and present was Doug Hodgson, Director of the Haliburton County Board of Education as well as six members of the board. The meeting was called at the request of concerned parents, who had heard rumors that the school was going to be closed. There were many parents and ratepayers present and questions were put to the board regarding the subject matter. Mr. Hodgson and board members gave interesting and enlightening answers and explanations on how the board to the dead of the two world wars. Think how they would have enjoyed being in your situation with the next generation growing up around you. To those even younger, they were exactly like you, be thankful that you are not being called upon to make such sacrifices. Let us all be thankful that we live in a country such as Canada where we are not even disturbed by the "mini-wars" which afflict other areas of the world.

It is the hope of Branch 129, Royal Canadian Legion, that the citizens of the area will join with them on the morning of November 11 at the Legion Hall and participate in the Remembrance Day service. Afterwards the parade will move off to the cenotaph for the wreath laying ceremonies.

False pretences charges laid

As the result of an investigation by provincial constable Al Bibby of the Minden detachment, seven charges of false pretences have been laid against Floyd Henry. The charges involve the issuing of seven cheques in the Haliburton and Minden areas during August and September. The amount of the cheques has been estimated by police at $223.

I can because I know that it won't last very long.

Norland bowling team scores as of November 1 with just one week left to complete the first series are: Lyle Jewell - 35 points, Nelly Chynoweth - 32 points, Don Boyce - 29 points, Barb Maund - 28 points, Kim Watson - 27 points, Lois McLean - 25 points, Trent Watson and Betty Davey teams - 24 points each, Ladie's high single - Jean Boyce 242, high triple - Marj Lee 592, and high average - Rotha Bryant 186. Men's high single and triple - Jesse Buxey 242, 606 and high average - Harry Smith 199.

Two weeks ago I mentioned the fact that the Cobocok Lions Club had voted to spend up to $6,500 for an asphalt or concrete base for the outdoor rink in the new Gull River Park in Cobocok. Unfortunately, a little gremlin must have hit the key in the typesetting machine and it came out as $65.00. There is a considerable difference in the amounts, so please note the change.

Remember - you never get a second chance to make a good first impression.

Burning the Mortgage Nov. 21, 1960

Legion to dedicate new extension

This coming Saturday evening, November 11th, The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129, Haliburton will be having the Dedication and Official Opening of their new extension and renovation of the present building.

The local branch has come a long way since the time that they opened their first hall on York Street.

Haliburton Highlights by Creighton Feir

Business seems to be booming in the Village of Haliburton and the Haliburton Red and White are putting an extension onto their present building and McGuire Tire Sales are also expanding.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Dave Price, well known sports broadcaster and radio celebrity who passed away recently. Dave, during the past few years resided in Florida, and was on radio reading the news of Canadians who were vacationing in that area. He was well known in the Haliburton area by a great many people from the old days when he worked on the highway being constructed from Haliburton to Minden.

The citizens of Haliburton and surrounding area can be justly proud of the beautiful Royal Canadian Legion here which, in our opinion, is one of the finest in Ontario. On Saturday, November 11, which is Remembrance Day and also the 50th anniversary of the local Branch 129, the Legion will have the dedication and official opening of their new extension and renovation of the present building. Whenever you get the opportunity, it will be time well spent to visit this beautiful enlarged auditorium. Our congratulations to The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 on a job well done. The members and the building committee are to be commended with this progressive move in giving the people of the community a building of which they can be justly proud of.

Enraged female critic to Churchill: "If you were my husband, sir, I would put arsenic in your tea!" Churchill's reply: "If you were my wife, madam, I would drink it!"

We were talking to a gentleman on Saturday who was in our office to renew his subscription and who had just come from the Legion after casting his vote in the municipal election in the Advance Poll. He remarked how appropriate it was to have the Advance Poll and Election Day so close to Remembrance Day. It reminds all of us that men fought and laid down their lives so that we would have the opportunity to vote for the candidates of our choice in our democratic system.

In the newspaper business one is open to criticism, abuse and many times you come under fire and it's certainly nice when one receives a friendly letter as I did last week from an old friend of mine, Al Topping of Don Mills. I certainly appreciated it.

We are now in the middle of hunting season and we sincerely hope that before it's over that there are no serious hunting accidents.

We are all so happy to think that at last it would appear that we are going to have peace in the Middle East. At times we wonder why these various countries always seem to be at war with each other. But just think about it for a moment. How can we expect the rest of the world to live in perfect peace and harmony when we can't even get along with each other in Haliburton County. If we are going to get ahead and have harmony, things are going to have to change from the municipal level right up to the top.

Last Friday evening and Saturday morning and afternoon, a Teachers' and Leaders' Training seminar was held at the Haliburton United Church.

The Junior hockey season opened in Haliburton last Friday evening and the Haliburton Huskies who we are all rooting for came through with flying colors winning their first game against Bewdley. It looks as though the Huskies are going to come up with another good team but they need your support. Try to get out and see as many games as you can. We wish the team and management the best of luck through the entire schedule and we hope that they can go all the way.

In our opinion, the Ontario government's "We Treat You Royally" promotion, which has been in operation of the past year, has been a success. Possibly in some cases it just hasn't brought 100 per cent results but in most cases, the point has gotten across to many people that if we are looking for business, we as business people and citizens must treat all those coming into our communities royally. It's something that doesn't cost us any money and how easy it is to give a visitor a smile, show them that we do welcome them here and make them feel part of the community. As far as good public relations are concerned, we have a long way to go yet but it's a start. Visitors who are treated in a friendly manner will come back again but if we do not treat them right and they go away with a sour taste in their mouth, they will move on to other centres.

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce have elected their new board of directors for the coming year. It has been said many times that the local Chamber of Commerce is nothing but a tourist bureau. This is exactly what the majority of people think it is. If it is to continue under the title of a chamber of commerce we would like to see the new board of directors start doing more than just taking up their time on the subject of tourism. We realize that tourism is at present a vital part of our economy and we shouldn't let down in this area but they must take a broader outlook and start to work on other things for this county. In our opinion, and from what we hear, the merchants and citizens around the county are not totally satisfied with what's going on. In other words, the hand writing is on the wall. Local citizens who have been attending the "Meet the Candidates Night" are at practically every meeting wanting some answers on what is being done about bringing industry into the county in one form or the other. Everyone is starting to realize that tourism is just not enough, we must have something more to have a more balanced year round economy.

This coming Friday evening, November 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Haliburton United Church, a choir representing several denominations in Bancroft will present the musical (Cantata) "An Experience of Love". It reveals the Christian story from Creation to Revelation, including to second coming of Christ. All of the Pastoral Charge are asked to support this by trying to be present.

Symposium on downtown revitalization to be held at Toronto

If the Province of Ontario and particularly the Ministry of Housing has its way, the future of Ontario's downtowns is bright indeed.

The housing ministry has undertaken a series of initiatives designed to stimulate interest in downtown areas and to involve the private sector and the community at large in revitalizing cores that are suffering from slow, often painful degeneration.

As part of this effort, the province is involved in a symposium on core problems called Downtown Forum '78 which will be held in Toronto Nov. 29 to Dec. 1.

Sponsored by the Ministry of Housing, The Ontario

Chamber of Commerce, the Association of Municipalities of Ontario, Canadian Association of Housing and Renewal Officials, Ontario Heritage Foundation, the Organization of Small Urban Municipalities, and many others, the conference will bring together more than 80 experts to discuss all aspects of core revitalization from marketing to land development to legal problems.

The conference, an outgrowth of a similar seminar last year, is open to anyone at a cost of $100 for the full three-day program or $35 for any single day. Downtown Forum '78 will be of particular interest to municipal officials, elected and appointed, business persons, planners, architects and community groups.

High on the list of topics will be the $30 million Ontario Revitalization Program which was launched in 1976 to help communities with populations of up to 125,000 preserve their cores.

The program's $30-million has been committed to several communities around the province: Barrie, Brantford, Cornwall, Sarnia, Thunder Bay, Tillsonburg and Vanier.

The projects are expected to generate additional revenue to the municipality in the

HOME OF THE WEEK

PLAN N° 78-1400
Area: 1400 sq. ft.
Width: 54 ft.

Here's an exciting three bedroom, full basement, split entry design which is ideally suited to the wide lot, and which offers the larger or growing family a wide range of convenience features combined with traditional styling. The mixed stucco and board of the Tudoresque exterior, combined with the brick veneer and small-paned windows, recall the traditional cottages of Shakespearean England.

The weather-sheltered entrance leads into a compact reception foyer, from which one moves up three risers and into the main living area of the home.

The enclosed L-shaped kitchen provides for a breakfast nook and separates from the dining room and hall via pocket doors.

The L-shaped living-dining room combination provides the cozy warmth of a wood-burning fireplace and the added advantage of positioning away from the bedroom complex for disturbance-free entertaining.

All three bedrooms are grouped around the central bathroom, and each has good natural lighting and ample closet storage. The master has a three-piece ensuite bath with tub and linen storage area to leave the master bath free for children and guests. A large linen storage closet is conveniently located opposite the master bathroom.

A double full garage offers the convenience and security of a completely protected separate entrance to the main foyer, and has adequate space for the future development of a workshop for the home handyman.

The full basement affords the growing family ample room for storage and the future development of additional bedrooms, and/or recreation or family rooms.

A charming tradition inspired design combining practicality and eye-appeal.

Plans for design No. 78-1400 may be purchased either by the single set, at a cost of $70, for the first set and $10, for each additional set, or by the package. A five-set plan package, including the first set, is economically priced at $100, and an eight-set package, also including the first set, is only $125.

Whichever method you choose, please include $4.00 for postage and handling. B.C. residents add 7 per cent sales tax.

Send for the current edition of Select Home Designs, Series #36, featuring imaginative decorating and home improvement ideas plus 350 quality home plans of every type. Available for $2.25 ($1.75 plus 50 cents postage and handling).

To order any of these items please send cheque or money order payable to the Home of the Week, C/O The Haliburton County Echo, 382 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C. V5Y 1R2.

PCs to introduce legislation to compensate police widows

The Ontario Legislature in October unanimously approved a resolution authored by Mickey Hennessy, Fort William MLA, that asks the Ontario government to introduce legislation to provide income benefits to the families of policeman, firefighters and correctional guards who are killed on duty.

"The job of a police officer, a firefighter or a correctional guard is distinct from that of most other employees," Hennessy said. "The nature of his work exposes him daily to activities that potentially endanger his life."

Hennessy stated that most occupations which are exposed to daily occupational hazards are already covered to some degree by a pension plan through their respective work group.

"But in many cases," added the deputy government whip, "if the worker is killed at an early stage in his career, the compensation that the family receives is minimal when compared to the salary they were receiving before the worker was killed."

Hennessy told the Legislature that in the case of a correctional service guard or an Ontario Provincial Police officer, if he should be killed on duty before he has completed ten years of service, his family would receive the same benefits offered any civil servant.

"The shocking element here is the small sum of the benefits," he said. "It would be traumatic in the case of any civil servant, but I must stress that while all civil servants now receive the same benefits, there must be a recognition of the degree of risk to the safety, indeed to the life, of these employees."

The person who daily faces dangers to his life and, therefore, to the security of his family, should have some guarantee that those he leaves behind will be adequately looked after, Hennessy emphasized. "I think that the family of a person who is killed while protecting others' deserves, indeed should be guaranteed, a better deal than he is now receiving."

Peregrine falcons have migrated

The eight peregrine falcons released in Algonquin Provincial Park last summer, as part of a federal-provincial program to bring the near-extinct birds back to Ontario, have apparently migrated south, Natural Resources Minister James A. C. Auld said today.

Gerald McKeating, the ministry's specialist responsible for placing the birds in the park, said that when they were last seen towards the end of August, they were 10 to 11 weeks old and capable of migrating.

"Although I can't say where the birds are now, they were flying and hunting well when last seen this summer and presumably all survived," McKeating said.

"In migration, the falcons would probably follow the northern shores of Lake Ontario and Lake Erie and fly in a southwesterly direction."

He said the birds had become attached to the cliff site as if it were their natural home. Hopefully, they will return there in late April or early May depending on the weather.

"Although there have been some peregrine falcons sighted in southern Ontario this fall, we can't say they're ours because no one can get close enough to see if they are banded."

The experiment in Algonquin Park is part of a North American program to bring back peregrines virtually extinct in eastern North America due to the use of the now banned insecticide, DDT.

Core revitalization is topic of meeting

form of rents and taxes, and to act as a catalyst for other downtown improvements.

The provincial assistance has been in the form of partially-recoverable loans up to a maximum of two-thirds of the approved cost of the revitalization project.

Response to the downtown program from communities large and small was so vigorous the ministry held a two-day seminar in Toronto last year to review all aspects of core preservation and revitalization.

The high level of interest led to the second initiative, a companion concept for help, called the Main Street Revitalization Program which was announced by Housing Minister Claude Bennett this past summer.

This program is designed specifically to help communities with populations of 30,000 or less and utilizes the Business Improvement Area (BIA) concept to spur downtown improvements.

Under the BIA approach merchants and business people can have their commercial area designated as an improvement area and then tax themselves through special levies to pay for improvements to streetscapes and related facilities.

Since smaller towns often lack the capability to generate the initial funding necessary for starting improvement projects under the BIA approach, the provincial government will provide low-interest loans of up to $150,000 to help the community improve and beautify municipally-owned lands and buildings in eligible areas.

Provincial officials have stressed that both programs are designed to help smaller communities help themselves by providing initial financial and moral support for projects or programs that can awaken interest in downtown areas.

By stressing continuing concern with the core's potential, the province believes it can play a useful role in the rejuvenation and restoration of both buildings and confidence.

Restoration of confidence is vital to the success of any approach to conserving or restoring main streets. Provincial officials are convinced there can be success only government, business and the public at large work together to review and rejuvenate all aspects of core areas: parking, transit, construction of new buildings, and the restoration of existing buildings.

Anyone interested in hearing about the kinds of help available for the downtowns of Ontario's smaller communities should contact the Community Renewal Branch, Ministry of Housing, 60 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M4W 3K7.

BEACONBROOK MOTOR HOTEL

FOR SALE BY TENDER

This hotel, located on Highway 519 just on the outskirts of Haliburton, Ontario, (described as Parts of Lots 16 and 17, Concession 9, Township of Dysart, Provisional County of Haliburton and buildings located thereon) is for sale under Power of Sale by virtue of default in a loan secured by realty and chattel mortgages.

The property comprises land (approximately 14 acres) and a licensed hotel with 10 units, dining room facilities seating approximately 40, and entertainment lounge facilities, seating approximately 125 persons. Included in the sale are items of equipment, furniture and fixtures for the operation of a hotel (full list available upon request).

Arrangements to inspect the realty and chattels may be made by contacting Mr. R. A. Coates, in Peterborough, Ontario - telephone (705) 748-3241. Inspection dates are scheduled for November 23rd and 24th, 1978.

Written tenders, addressed to Mr. R. A. Coates, c/o P.O. Box 1419, Peterborough, Ontario, K9J 7E8, will be accepted until 12 noon on November 29th, 1978. A certified cheque, or similar recompense for 10 per cent of the amount tendered must be included as a deposit (payee to be designated), and will be returned without interest if the tender is not accepted, or forfeited as liquidated damages if the tender is accepted and sale not completed by the purchaser. Provincial sales tax to be paid by the purchaser. The highest or any offer shall not necessarily be accepted. Assistance to finance the transaction will be considered.

AND MINDEN RECORDER

Second Section

Ladies and gentlemen, your candidates...

For Lutterworth, Snowdon, Cardiff, Monmouth, Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone

Lutterworth township

Reeve candidates

Former Lutterworth reeve Pat Conaghan will be seeking his old job back again. He has spent three years as reeve of the township, and says, if elected, that he would attempt to stabilize the millrate in the township.

He also advocates the establishment of a volunteer fire department "instead of paying out thousands and thousands of dollars to other municipalities for fire protection."

Councillor Ron Gambell is running for the position of reeve in Lutterworth. The 43-year-old businessman is a member of the Rotary Club of Minden and has served on council for one term.

"Since the resignation of the reeve and the deputy reeve," said Gambell, "the five of us (councillors) have worked well together. I feel much more qualified now to sit on the table than before."

Gambell says that he is not running on any specific issue, and is campaigning mainly on the past record of council.

Seeking the post of reeve is Don Williams, a 50-year-old self-employed former reeve. Williams filled the position in 1972 for one term. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

"I think it's about time council put their personal thoughts aside and try to run as a complete council. This is what should be done," he said.

Williams added that "he was not prepared to say 'at this time' what issues he will be concentrating on."

Deputy reeve candidates

For the position of deputy reeve, retired major Glynne Lewis is making his bid. Lewis has served on council for the past term.

He would like to see a "reasonable balance between cottagers and local people who live here all year-round."

There should be no preference put on either types of residents. In the past, he said, more "emphasis has been put on the full-time resident."

If elected, Lewis says he would strike an even balance between services for both.

Councillor candidates

Bill Valentine will be running for a position on council. Valentine, who is a 46-year-old teacher, was first elected in 1967. He resigned and ran again in 1974 and has been on council since that time. He is a member of the Lindsay Power Squadron, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Haliburton Snowmobiler's Association.

Valentine feels that "the five of us (councillors) have things straightened out and we intend to keep operating the way we are." "Things are going well," he said.

Valentine is not campaigning on any specific issue.

A 49-year-old businessman Bill Prentice, served a partial term on council. Prentice states that "as far as I'm concerned, there is no real platform, but there are certain things that I'd like to see finished."

Prentice is against the idea of starting a volunteer fire department in the township since "we're already getting cheap coverage in this area now for $5,000 from all three surrounding areas."

Seeking re-election again is 72-year-old Alan Stott, who is retired and has been on council for the past nine months. He is president of the Red Cross in the area.

There is no issue Stott is campaigning on, but he says "I bring to council three years experience from Dundas council. I've been told that it has been beneficial."

Paul Pilon, a 44-year-old self-employed businessman and newcomer to the political race, is seeking a council seat.

"We are depending too much on other townships. We don't have much to offer anybody really. The township has become stagnant and I don't see how council has done a darn thing," said Pilon.

He would like to see, if elected, the township cut down on ratepayer's taxation. "Nobody on council even attempts to suggest to reclaim money on behalf of the taxpayer."

A 44-year-old businessman and contractor, Peter Valentine is running for a seat on council. Valentine served on the school board for two years and on council off and on for seven years from 1961 until 1971.

Valentine feels "it's time the council went back to the locals. There are an awful lot of outside people on council."

If elected, Valentine would advocate having more evening meetings instead of during the daytime.

"There used to be meetings at night. I don't see why they can't have them now," he said.

Bill Roodenburg, who is an independent real estate broker and a newcomer to the political race, will be running for councillor. He is a member of the Minden Curling Club and is vice-president of the real estate board in Minden.

Roodenburg, if elected, would like to pursue the possibility of light industry in the county.

"But I'll go after anything that's good for the township of Lutterworth," he said.

Also making his bid for Lutterworth councillor is Mervyn Brohm. Mr. Brohm, 40, has served on the school board for three years and nine years on council. He was defeated last term, and is an employee of Ontario Hydro.

"I'm going to try to cut unnecessary costs. Things certainly got out of hand last term," he said.

Mr. Brohm said that a lot of internal spending "was going on such as telephone calls and food spending that is unnecessary."

Snowdon township

Reeve candidates

Incumbent reeve Bob Vick will be running once again for the position in Snowdon township. Vick, 59, has served the township for 10 years as reeve and four years as councillor. He is a farmer and labourer and says that he is running for "good, sound government and holding the line on unnecessary spending."

Vick says that he agrees with the county planning strategy, however, states that "I'm not in favour of any official plan."

Motel owner Don Smedmor is challenging Vick for the position of reeve in the township. Smedmor, who is 57-years old, is currently serving as the township's deputy reeve and has done so for the past two years. He has also spent two years on the council.

If elected to the post, Smedmor says that he wants "reassessment done on a normal level", and adds that he disagrees with the county-wide planning strategy.

"That strategy isn't planning," he said, "it's restraint."

Incumbent councillor Ron Burk will be seeking that position on Snowdon council again. The 35-year-old gas station attendant has served one term on council.

Burk feels that the upgrading and cost of the roads in the township are the two important issues in the election.

"We have to try and upgrade our roads and keep the taxes the way they are - it's the only service we can offer right now," he said.

A newcomer to the race in Snowdon, 58-year-old Dick Stewart is also running for the position of councillor. The trailer-park owner is a member of the Ontario Private Camper's Association.

If elected, Stewart says he will push for a more progressive administration. The roads are something else he would like to upgrade, he said.

Simmons adds that "there is a lot to be desired in our township, and it's about time we looked after all the township instead of some of it."

Board of Education candidates

This is a list of the candidates running in the townships mentioned who could not be reached by deadline:

- Bert Shingler, who is running for Lutterworth reeve.

- Floyd Pogue, who is running for Lutterworth councillor.

- David Villard, who is running for Sherborne Council.

- John Francis, who is running for Snowdon deputy reeve.

- George Simmons, who is seeking election as the Snowdon representative on the County Board of Education.

Councillor candidates

Incumbent Cardiff councillor Ross Lawrence is seeking another term. The 46-year-old process engineer, who also owns a resort, is in his second term on council. He is vice-president of the Paudash Snowmobiler's Club and is a member of the Bancroft Chamber of Commerce.

He says that there is no major issues in the township, however, council has been studying a zoning issue and Lawrence feels that "a bylaw on land usage restriction" should be implemented.

Another incumbent councillor, William Hutton, is seeking re-election. Mr. Hutton, 58, is a merchant and a member of the Lions Club.

"The main thing is the land usage bylaw, which is coming into force next year. I'd like to see the program carry through. It's something the township needs and we'll receive protection and control through it," he said.

"I'm very, very green and it will take me a few sessions to get used to the system, but I will try and control the Incumbent councillor Elmer Hughey is entering the race again. Hughey has spent a half term on council. He is 67 years old and is retired.

The main plank in Hughey's platform is the fact that the council itself should have a councillor in the northern part of the township.

"I thought we should have a man at this end of the township; maybe two. This is why I stayed as councillor and why I'm entering the election," he said.

A 55-year-old Ministry of Natural Resources employee, Bev Lapell will be trying for the position of councillor. A newcomer, Lapell is a member of the Canadian Legion in Cardiff and a member of the S.D. and G. Highlanders in Peterborough.

"I'm very, very green and it will take me a few sessions to get used to the system, but I will try and control the spending in the township," he said.

In Cardiff township, Ferdinand Gillick will be one of the people running for only three positions open on council. The 44-year-old contractor is not campaigning on any specific issue, and says simply that "if everybody went in by acclamation, we'd have a pretty poor township."

Another woman incumbent serving on Monmouth council, Mary Barker, is running for the position of councillor once again. Mrs. Barker, who is a 24-year-old housewife, has spent two years on council. She is a Girl Guide leader and a member of the Wilberforce Curling Club.

If elected, she says that she would like to "take what we have built and use it to its full potential."

A 32-year-old Ministry of Natural Resources employee is making his first bid for a council seat. Barry Dunford, who is a member of the Masonic Lodge, says that he would like to see more employment in the township and to "hold the line on taxes."

Dunford is a newcomer to the political race in the area.

Another newcomer, Patti Smith, is also running for Monmouth councillor. The 36-year-old housewife, who is also involved in her husband's business, is a member of the Wilberforce Skating Club, the United Church Women's group and is on the board of directors for the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts.

She would like "to encourage responsible groups within the community to use the community centre."

If elected, she would also like to see the people of the community informed as far as "matters that are the real concerns of people go."

Gwen Kennedy, a 53-year-old welfare administrative assistant for the township, is running as councillor. She belongs to the Ontario Municipal Social Services Association and says that she is campaigning on "plain common sense."

She says she is not planning to run on any specific issue and adds that "how can I run on a platform when I've never served on council?"

Contractor Allan Scott is making his bid for the position of councillor in Monmouth. The 52-year-old Wilberforce Legionnaire says that he "would like to clear the Irondele River of the debris" that is now existing in the river.

He would also, if elected, attempt to bring a doctor into the township and diversify the recreational facilities.

"I'd also like to see more light industry," said Scott.

Another newcomer to the race for councillor is 36-year-old Pearl Foster. She is a storekeeper and a life member of the Ontario Firefighters' Association.

Foster says that she "doesn't intend to make promises," but intends to "be impartial" on matters such as the proposed buying of the Tory Hill school house.

"I'd want to know how many people it will benefit first," she said.

Also running for the position of councillor is 28-year-old Alan Revill, who is a title searcher. Revill is a member of the Monmouth Volunteer Fire department and a member of the south Algonquin Kinsmen Club.

Revill, if elected, says he will have an "active involvement on council as well as dedication to work for all areas and people in Monmouth township."

Incumbent councillor Fran Gower will be going after the position of councillor again. Mrs. Gower has spent one term on council. She is a 46-year-old resort owner who is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the snowmobile club in Huntsville.

Her biggest concern is to represent the ratepayers of Ox Tongue Lake, where app-

Voters in Monmouth township are interested in obtaining a doctor to serve the residents of the municipality, locating a provincial police detachment at Wilberforce and purchasing the former elementary school at Tory Hill from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for a community centre.

These were the major concerns raised during an all-candidates meeting, the first in the township in the past 10 years, last Wednesday at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre at Wilberforce.

Other concerns raised by the more than 100 persons who attended, were concern over parking along Highway 648 and the need for a new bridge at Wilberforce.

The 12 candidates running for office in the November 13 municipal elections decided before the meeting to allow themselves only two minutes each to speak.

Incumbent reeve Gary Agnew said improvements in the township did not just happen in the past two years. "It takes a lot of long range planning to accomplish things," he stated.

A 10-year veteran of municipal politics, Keith Tallman is challenging Agnew for the post of reeve. He explained he is committed to holding the line on spending in the township, establishing a doctor in Monmouth, maintaining and improving the recreation programs of the municipality, obtaining the former Tory Hill school from the ministry for a community centre, embarking on a fish stocking program in the township lakes and improving the municipal road system.

Deputy-reeve candidate Harry Clark said he would "keep the lid on taxes" and conduct an open administration.

Although he has no municipal experience, he added, he is willing to learn. Carman Coumbs, who is also seeking the post of deputy-reeve, would obtain the former Tory Hill elementary school from the ministry for a community centre, improve the recreation program in the township and maintain the road system in Monmouth.

Incumbent councillor Margaret Finlay would work for better community-use of the township's recreation facilities, spend more on the roads and hold the line on taxes. "This is a very progressive township," she stated, which needs experienced individuals administering it.

Mary Barker, an incumbent councillor, is interested in the township residents obtaining maximum use of the existing facilities in the municipality rather than expanding further. She described her past experience on council as "challenging" and expects another term would be even more challenging.

Newcomer Barry Dunford admitted he did not possess any municipal experience, but is "interested in municipal affairs."

"I think I have something to contribute to the next council," stated newcomer Gwen Kennedy.

Patti Smith, a newcomer, said the township's recreation facilities could be utilized more fully. She admitted she was most familiar with children's activities. She urged the voters to make sure they choose a "good administration".

Newcomer Allan Revill is concerned about the future of Monmouth township and is "willing to learn" about running a municipality.

"I really think I have something to contribute," said newcomer Pearl Foster.

"I will do my best to do everything I can for the township."

C. Allan Scott, a newcomer, complimented the present council for doing an excellent job. He admitted the township has changed tremendously in the past few decades. He would serve the residents and be responsive to their requests and needs, he said.

'Election fever' evident

Races to watch

Election fever appears to have gripped voters in Haliburton County this year with a large slate of candidates seeking office in nine municipalities.

An analysis of the races in the various townships indicate several are worth watching next Monday after the polls close in the November 13 municipal voting.

A close race could occur in Anson, Hindon and Minden township between incumbent reeve Reg Booth and challenger Sinc Nesbitt, former reeve of Stanhope township.

Veteran Monmouth township reeve Gary Agnew faces a challenge from deputy reeve Keith Tallman for the top job in the municipality.

In Lutterworth township, five candidates are fighting it out for the post of reeve. Battling for the reeveship will be Pat Conaghan, A.O. (Bert) Shingler, Ronald Gambell, Don Williams and Lloyd Walker.

With former reeve of Stanhope, Sinc Nesbitt, seeking election in Anson, Hindon and Minden township, Jim Harrison is fighting Bill Barber for the vacant reeve's post.

The largest battle for a seat on the Haliburton County Board of Education will occur in Dysart et al township.

Incumbent trustees Len Salvatori, Earl Cooper and Tom Little are facing challenges from newcomers Bob Stinson, Bill Davis, Brian Abbs, Derrell Stamp, Barbara Bolin and Nancy Stinson.

The nine candidates are batling for four seats on the board.

In Anson, Hindon and Minden township, two incumbent trustees, Lloyd Johnson and Don Booth are being challenged by Yvonne Penney in a three-way race for two seats.

Incumbent trustee Ralph Young of Snowdon township is facing a challenge for the first time from newcomer George Simmons Jr.

Of the 14 members on the board of education, only three incumbents are not seeking re-election.

In Dysart et al township, trustee Dorothy Way decided to step down after nine years on the board of education.

Lutterworth trustee Norman Gilmour did not seek re-election. He has been a member of the board for the past eight years.

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone trustee Dorothy McKey decided not to seek re-election after nine years as the representative of her township.

She is seeking a seat on council in the Dorset area.

Sherborne, McClintock & Livingstone

parently, there is very little representation, she said. "I want to help the people living at Ox Tongue Lake to understand what council does and what they propose to do."

Housewife and incumbent councillor, Olga Cunningham will be trying for her re-election again. She has spent 13 years on council and says that she is not campaigning on anything "in particular", but she says she is interested in "everything".

Her aim, however, if re-elected, is to push more for Canada Works grants, so helpful services for the townships could be sponsored during the winter.

"We sure didn't do that last year," she said.

Cunningham also says that she is concerned that the community centre in the area is not utilized to its fullest extent.

Also running for council is Joyce McKey. She is a housewife and has been on the Haliburton County Board of Education for nine years.

"I don't want to make a lot of statements about what we want to do. I do have some ideas, but I don't want to reveal them yet."

Her first priority, if elected, would be to simply "sit on council and get used to the position."

A 43-year-old school teacher, Len Stains will also be running for council. An "informed electorate" is the main plank of his platform. He feels that council minutes should be published "in an understandable form."

If elected, Stains would induce more public input on certain issues involving the townships.

Reg Moulard, a 40-year-old businessman, is also seeking a position on council. He is a member of the Lions Club in Dorset.

Moulard says that he "hears a lot of gripes" in his business, and "I'd just thought I'd try my hand at council."

"The people should have all the services that are available to them and not some," he added.

The various all-candidates meetings held around the county these past few weeks have reported to have been extremely successful. Concerned ratepayers got the chance to query candidates on various issues and proposals. In some cases, the meetings became a breeding ground for new ideas and thoughts, and helped both ratepayers and candidates to consider new issues.

Fourteen acclaimed: It's easy for them!

Fourteen individuals will be observing the November 13 municipal elections in Haliburton County from the comfort of the sidelines.

Three reeves, three deputy reeves, a councillor and seven board of education trustees have already been returned into office for another two-year term by acclamation and will not have to worry about battling to retain their seats in municipal government.

In Dysart et al township, reeve Murray Fearrey, has been acclaimed along with Ward 3 councillor Jack Denholm.

Reeve Fred Baum and deputy reeve Don Shortreed have been voted in for a two-year term in Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone township.

Cardiff township reeve Malcolm McGillivray and deputy reeve Mac Peters were acclaimed.

In Glamorgan township, deputy reeve Chesley Noseworthy has been returned for another two years.

Of the seven board of education trustees returned by acclamation, five were incumbents.

Glamorgan township trustee Vaneita Pickens will serve another term.

Trustee Ross Anderson of Monmouth township will retain his seat.

In Stanhope township, trustees Leroy Eager and Dorothy Kinsman have been returned to office.

Victoria Agnew, trustee for Bicroft-Cardiff township, will sit on the board again.

Two newcomers will join

Nine advance polls held

1500 cast votes early in polls

Interest in the November 13 municipal elections appears high following advance polling last Saturday which recorded nearly 1,500 voters casting their ballots early.

Nine advance polls were held in the municipalities in Haliburton County.

The largest turnout was in Lutterworth township where 377 voters exercised their franchise.

In Stanhope township, 363 voters took advantage of the advance poll.

Dysart et al township recorded a total of 207 votes at two locations. A poll at Haliburton reported 191 voters, while another at Harcourt recorded 16 votes.

Anson, Hindon and Minden township had 176 voters cast ballots.

At Monmouth township, 140 votes were cast in the advance poll.

Snowdon township recorded 118 voters taking advantage of the early poll.

In Glamorgan township, 72 votes were recorded from the poll last Saturday.

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone township reported 67 votes cast.

At Cardiff township, 47 voters cast their ballots in the advance polls.

Only one township, Anson, Hindon and Minden, will conduct a second advance poll. It is slated for this Saturday.

In Galway-Cavendish township in Peterborough County, two advance polls were held.

At the October 28 poll, 148 voters turned out in Cavendish and 140 in Galway. Last Saturday, 159 cast ballots in Cavendish and 147 in Galway.

For Councillor

In the progressive future of Dysart, we must prepare today, not tomorrow, or next year, for the planning and direction necessary to retain and enunciate the momentum with which to give Dysart et al a great future.
With your support at the polls November 13, I will be a part of that team.

An Open Letter To The Ratepayers
In Dysart et al
BILL DAVIS

On November the 13th you have been asked to go to the polls to elect a new school board for another term. This decision on your part is one of great importance because the greatest bulk of your tax dollar in Dysart goes to warde education costs which seem to be soaring.

In Dysart et al 67 cents of every dollar goes towards education. This, I might point out, is one of the most highest per capita assessments in the province of Ontario. However, on the other hand, we have one of the finest calibre of education systems in the province.

Much has been said about market value assessment and I can't begin to go into the depth of this plan which our provincial government has tried to introduce, to no avail fortunately for the ratepayers of Dysart et al. This plan would cut the provincial grant to the municipality by at least half. What this would mean to you and I the taxpayer, based on 1978 figures, would be an additional one million dollars. This would no doubt be a substantial increase in the Mill Rate and extra dollars to the taxpayer.

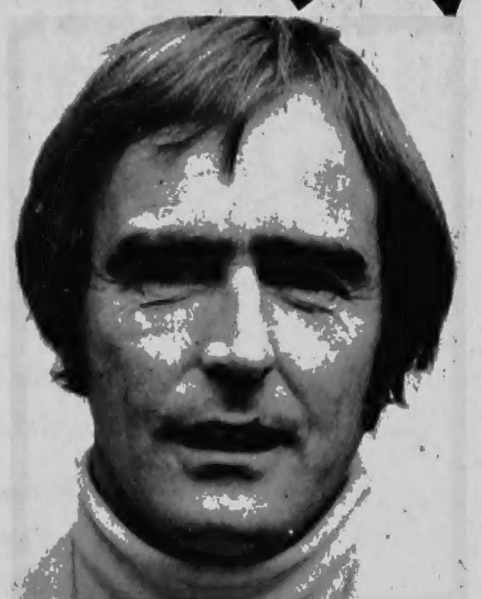

So you see that from day to day problems will arise. At this time we need a united Board of Education, united with a common goal in mind, the best calibre of education at the lowest possible cost.

As a taxpayer and a parent I am concerned, I want to get involved. I love my birthplace, the highlands of Haliburton. Many years ago I took my education from this very system, to it I am indebted. I have something to contribute. If elected I will work for the betterment of all the county to the best of my ability and the dedication out of love for the highlands. If you believe dedication, hard work and a common goal of quality of education at the lowest possible cost, then I urge you to support Bill Davis for Trustee.

Sincerely,
BILL DAVIS

The democratic process begins in Your Home Municipality

Men have laid down their lives and fought for this country of ours in two Great Wars so that we might have the opportunity to live in a democracy.
Our democratic system democratic system that we have here in Canada gives us the right to vote and choose the candidates of our choice in Municipal, Provincial and Federal elections.

We can be thankful that we in Canada live in a free world where we can make a choice and decide who is going to govern us. People in many other countries, living under different systems are deprived of this right. It's up to us to make sure that we exercise our franchise on voting day. If we stay at home in large numbers, the day will come when the right to vote could be taken away from us. Don't let this happen because you failed to vote!

Don't sit at home and criticize our elected representatives after the election is over. Your vote could mean the difference. As Canadians we live in one of the finest countries in the world and it's about time for us to stand up and show our national pride. Your name shouldn't be on the Voters List if you aren't going to vote.
